Good Samaritan Society - Clearbrook employee receives Foundation scholarship

Clearbrook - Christine Wildman, employed at Good Samaritan Society - Clearbrook, was presented with a scholarship from the Care Providers of Minnesota Foundation, an organization committed to the pursuit of excellence in care and service delivery through the advancement of education, research, creativity and innovation.

Ms. Wildman, a Licensed Practical Nurse, who has worked at Good Samaritan for 10 years, was presented with the scholarship by Jill Schewe, Director of Assisted Living, Housing and Home Care for Care Providers of Minnesota.

More than 50 applicants applied for scholarship monies; of those, 19 employees were selected as scholarship recipients.

Students will use the assistance to further their professional development within the field of long-term care, including nursing, social work, occupational therapy, and nursing home administration studies.

The scholarship recipients represent a broad cross-section of employees and long-term care centers from across the state. The $19,000 awarded this year brings the total dollar amount of scholarships given to date to more than $410,000. Scholarship monies are raised by the Foundation through their annual golf tournament, a silent auction held at the Care Providers of Minnesota convention and other contributions.

Gordon Hormann, facility Administrator said: "We are so proud that Christine was chosen to receive a Care Providers of Minnesota scholarship. She is a wonderful example of the caring staff at Good Samaritan Society - Clearbrook."

Good Samaritan Society - Clearbrook is owned and operated by the Evangelical Lutheran Good Samaritan Society, the nation's largest non-profit provider of senior services.

Essentia Health Awarded $700,000 as part of National Research Effort to Expedite Results of Clinical Trials

Medical research leads to new drugs and treatments that save thousands of lives every day. But sometimes, that research can take 15 to 20 years before effective results are seen. Essentia Health recently received $700,000 to take part in a national research program designed to develop faster and more accurate research results.

"Essentia Health was invited to join one of 34 networks across the country," says Irina Haller, Essentia Rural Institute of Health Senior Research Scientist. "Each network's goal is to improve research methods, so ultimately, our patients benefit from the latest and most accurate medical research." Haller is the Essentia Site Principal Investigator for the project.

The network Essentia is part of is called the Learning Health Systems Network (LHSNet). By joining the network, Essentia researchers will expand their potential pool of research subjects from 360,000 to more than 10 million by accessing information from the nine LHSNet organizations lead by Mayo Clinic. Other members include Allina, Medica Research Institute, Olmsted County Public Health, InterMountain Healthcare, the University of Michigan, Ohio State University, and Arizona State University.

"Our first goal is to create a common data model with a common language," Haller says. "We all may have electronic health records, but they don't all speak the same language or to each other. The common-data model will allow us to access information within the network and between networks, without violating patients' privacy. Think of it as a toolbox for evaluating information, but in

Annual Hunters Supper Event Coming November 7 in Gully

The traditional opening day Deer Hunters Supper Event will be again hosted by Lund Lutheran Church of Gully on Saturday, November 7 from 5 to 8 p.m. at the Gully town hall. A meal fit for hungry hunters will include meatballs, mashed potatoes, gravy, wild rice, baked beans, vegetables, Jello, lefse, bread, all the extra trimmings, beverage and dessert. Take-outs will be available, but you might as well come and visit. There's no dress-code so come as you are and bring the whole hunting party! Blaze orange will definitely be in style again this season.

Anyone wishing to join the fun and participate in the food prep and serving please contact the Ladies Aid. (Hunters can sign up for Friday afternoon potato peeling –meatball rolling session so it won't interfere with "the hunt").

This annual event has become a "homecoming" tradition for many in the Gully community. Extended family and friends are welcomed home for this festive visiting opportunity and encouraged to bring an apron and favorite peeling knife, too, because the extra help is always needed and appreciated!

The funds raised from the supper go to the operating fund of Lund Church.

The Lund Ladies Aid will host a Fall Market with handicrafts, produce and baked goods. Come early and enjoy some unique holiday shopping; and of course, pick up some goodies for your next day's deer stand snack. Plan to participate in a silent auction or two.

The Gully-Trail Parish

Young People's Group will hold drawings for their awesome gift baskets. Ticket donations will be a dollar each and you do not need to be present to win. This has become a very popular activity for everyone at the Hunters Supper Event.

The Lund Church Hunters Supper event will be Saturday, Nov. 7 from 5 to 8 p.m. on Main Street in Gully. Meal donation is $12 for adults and age 13 and up; $6 for 6-12 year-olds and donation for pre-school. Funds raised from the meal will go to church operation expenses.

Everyone is welcome and encouraged to come and enjoy the fun. The Annual Lund Church Gully Hunters Supper event is a Saturday Night Deer Season Opening Tradition!

HUNTERS SUPPER

Fundraiser for Lund Church of Gully

All Welcome! Come as you are! Serving 5-8 p.m.

Main Street in Gully is showing signs of getting ready for the upcoming Deer Hunting Season. It's considered by many to be one of the year's major holidays, and preparations are underway for the onslaught of friends and family who come from "off ways" to join the local hunting parties. Non-hunters that don't want to miss out on anything are making their own plans to get here to join the visiting and fun.

Daylight Saving Time Ends November 1

Before you go to bed on Saturday night, remember to "fall back" by setting your clocks back one hour.

Here's some background information about Daylight Saving Time, a system to reduce electricity usage by extending daylight hours.

Facts:

- Sunday, November 1, 2015 - Daylight Saving Time ends at 2 a.m. Set clocks back one hour.
- Sunday, March 13, 2016 - Daylight Saving Time begins at 2 a.m. Set clocks ahead one hour.

It is "Daylight Saving Time" (singular), not "Daylight Savings Time" (plural).

Beginning in 2007, Daylight Saving Time starts in the United States on the second Sunday in March and ends on the first Sunday in November.

Timeline:

- 1784 - The idea of daylight saving is first conceived by Benjamin Franklin.
- 1914-1918 - Britain goes on DLS during World War I.
- March 19, 1918 - The Standard Time Act establishes time zones and daylight savings. Daylight savings is repealed in 1919, but continues to be recognized in certain areas of the United States.
- 1945-1966 - There is no federal law regarding Daylight Saving Time.
- 1966 - The Uniform Time Act of 1966 establishes the system of uniform Daylight Saving Time throughout the United States. The dates are the last Sunday in April to the last Sunday in October. States can exempt themselves from participation.
- 1974-1975 - Congress extends DLS in order to save energy during the energy crisis.
- 1986-2006 - Daylight Saving Time begins on the first Sunday in April and ends on the last Sunday in October.

August 8, 2005 - President George W. Bush signs the Energy Policy Act of 2005 into law. Part of the act will extend Daylight Saving Time starting in 2007, from the second Sunday in March to the first Sunday in November.

2007 - Under the new laws, all of Indiana now observes Daylight Saving Time, where only certain areas of the state did before.

Exceptions in the United States:

In the United States, Hawaii and most of Arizona do not follow DLS.

The U.S. territories of Guam, Puerto Rico, Virgin Islands and American Samoa also do not observe DLS.

What countries follow Daylight Saving Time? About 70 countries around the world observe DLS. Many countries near the equator do not adjust their clocks for daylight saving.

Neither China nor Japan observe DLS. Some countries refer to "Daylight Saving Time" as "Summer Time."

Regulation change in 2015 affects when deer licenses are valid

Deer hunters are reminded about changes in 2015 that affect when licenses purchased after a season is open are valid.

A deer hunting license purchased after a season is open is valid the same day of purchase if purchased prior to legal shooting hours. If the license is purchased after legal shooting hours, then the license is valid the following day.

"The language is unclear in the 2015 Minnesota Hunting and Trapping Regulations Handbook about when deer hunting licenses are valid, so we want to elaborate on this," said Steve Merchant, wildlife populations and regulations manager.

What changed from last year? Last year, hunters needed to wait two days to hunt if they bought a deer license after a season opened. Also, there was no ability to buy a license before shooting hours and hunt that same day.

Deer licenses can be purchased at DNR license agents across Minnesota, by phone at 888-665-4236 or online at www.mndnr.gov/buyalicense. For lists of license agents in each Minnesota county, see www.mndnr.gov/licenses/agents.html.

There are additional fees for telephone and Internet transactions. Hunters who purchase licenses by phone and Internet will receive their deer license and tags by mail, which can take three to five business days to arrive, so hunters who choose these options should allow enough time for delivery. Hunters must have a valid deer license and tag in their possession when hunting deer.

Hunters need to be familiar with deer hunting regulations, which are available at any DNR license agent or online at www.mndnr.gov/regulations/hunting.

Theology in the Trenches

Prayer Posturing

Prayer cards purchased, placed in pews, penned upon. Decorated shoe box sporting hole a top easily opens. Requests dumped upon table uniting all who read. And all who now know help carry burdens to the top...the very Top to the One who answers pleas.

Wall built, prayers adhered to as notes placed between each stone sends cries upward...responding to what the heart dictates. Interceding, pleading and spending time with the One who is able.

Prayer flags flying atop mountain, flapping to be noticed that hearts are raised and this is the highest elevation to where one can carry...and so they do.

Shawl covers head as mama sits in rocker securing her sacred space for the moment. Children know this is her time...and she speaks that which carries the weight of the world in prayer for generations not yet known.

Wooden box set atop mountain, lock and key keeping that which is placed within secure until a small gathering group bows heads in earnest to share burdens cast down...written down. Hikers happen upon lock and key. They know not the depths of pain carried until they see the box. Contemplation pours out secrets that need escape; once shared upon paper and placed within, they run on...just a little lighter...upon path.

Matches set candles alight, knees bend, and heads bow as hearts lift up those who are dear. Sisters and brothers pray in the privacy of the sanctuary covering all in prayer.

Hands grip steering wheel as heart bound burdens are contemplated. A mad dash to work finds this is the only time where there is time and the urgency is noted. Foot pressed upon metal eases off because He's got this...He's got this...He's got this...

Walks taken around streams, villages, country roads, and byways... The familiar landscape of the city neighborhood has the footprint of the prayerful...the faithful...covering that which needs to be uncovered and brought into the Light so the Son may warm. Troubles mysteriously dissipate; but it is no mystery...no mystery at all.

Night time hands folded with little ones as equipping the next generation is a calling all its own. Come into my heart Lord, Jesus...come into my heart to stay...and the seeds are planted and He maintains that which is His...and He calls forth those who are His. Lifted hands He lifts.

Psalm 145:18 simply says, "The Lord is near to all who call on him, to all who call on Him in truth." And so we do. The saints who've gone before us have gone...and now we must pray...it is our turn...it is our time. Amen.

Ask a Trooper

by Sgt. Neil Dickenson of the Minnesota State Patrol

Question: My son has an appointment to take his drivers test towards the end of the week. He wants to take the test driving our car, but a sensor light indicating that the driver air bag is not operational stays lit. We've had this checked and all is fine except for the light staying on. I know that they do a "once over" on the vehicle making sure lights, signals, etc. are in working condition. Will this prevent him from passing his driving test?

Answer: This is a good question. The State Patrol does not oversee driver's license tests, but I did some checking with Driver and Vehicle Services (DVS). You will be asked to perform a safety equipment check of your vehicle before you begin the road test. It must be in safe working condition and have all necessary equipment. You will be required to present current proof of insurance and demonstrate knowledge about:

- Proof of insurance: original insurance identification card or policy. (Photocopies or Internet copies are not acceptable.)
- Seat adjustment.
- Seat belts.
- Emergency (parking) brake.
- Activating headlights (high and low beams). Vehicles with fully automatic headlights require the driver to manually activate the high and low beam headlights.

- Activating hazard warning lights (four-way flashers).
- Horn.
- Windshield wipers.
- Windshield defroster and fan controls.
- Mirrors.

This list does not include all equipment and items required by law. If you are unable to pass the safety equipment demonstration, you will not be allowed to finish the road test that day. The illumination of the "air bag not operational" light should not be an issue. In addition to the check-list, make sure your vehicle is mechanically sound so your son can complete the road test without any issues related to the vehicle. But whenever you have a question in regards to the tests, I would suggest contacting the DVS office directly or email dvs.driverslicense@state.mn.us.

A portion of state statutes were used with permission from the Office of the Revisor of Statutes. If you have any questions concerning traffic related laws or issues in Minnesota, send your questions to Sgt. Jesse Grabow - Minnesota State Patrol at 1000 Highway 10 West, Detroit Lakes, MN 56560. (You can follow me on Twitter @MSP-PIO_NW or reach me at jesse.grabow@state.mn.us).

Safe ways to trick-or-treat

What would Halloween be without trick-or-treating? For youngsters, so much of the fun of Halloween involves scouring the neighborhood with friends in search of candy. While children may have their eyes on the sweet prize, parents may be concerned about their little ones' safety.

The United States Census Bureau says that an average of 41 million trick-or-treaters venture out every year across the country, and roughly 106 million homes are solicited for candy and other treats on this holiday. Such a high number of people out on the streets increases the risk of injury, and it can be easy for kids to get lost as well.

According to Kate Carr, president and CEO of Safe Kids Worldwide, a network of organizations geared toward preventing unintentional childhood injury, "Halloween is an important night for parents to be extra vigilant." But Halloween seems to lessen one's inhibitions, and wearing a costume and being hidden from others can encourage some revelers to engage in atypical and unsafe behaviors. To ensure everyone has a safe and fun Halloween, here are some safety tips to follow.

* Go in groups. Children can be accompanied by their parents while older children should be encouraged to trick-or-treat in groups. Should an emergency occur, having a group of friends around enables someone to call for help or alert an adult.

* Use a flashlight. When trick-or-treating at night, take steps to improve visibility. This includes using reflective tape on costumes and carrying a flashlight or glow sticks so that other pedestrians as well as drivers will be able to see children.

* Walk on sidewalks. Whenever possible, trick-or-treaters should use sidewalks and crosswalks. Avoid walking in the street, where the risk of being hit by a car is considerable. The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration says twice as many kids are hit by a car while walking on Halloween than any other day of the year.

* Avoid distractions. Trick-or-treaters should not be wearing earbuds or talking on a phone while trick-or-treating. They should be paying attention to their surroundings and using caution.

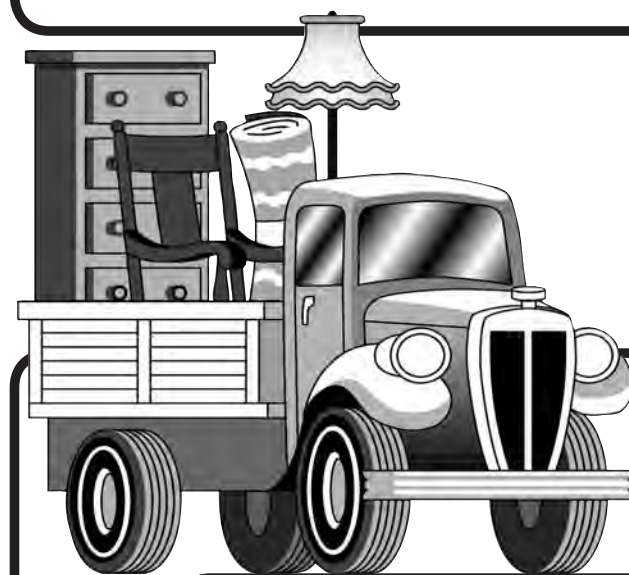

* Do not enter homes. If an adult or even a youngster whom a child does not know offers entry to the home, the trick-or-treater should not enter. Let kids know they should only enter the homes of known friends, and even then they should only do so after getting permission from a parent.

* Consume only factory-wrapped treats. Well-meaning people may hand out cupcakes or marshmallow cereal treats. The ingredients such people used and the safety of these treats cannot be confirmed, so it is best to stick with store-bought items instead.

* Wear well-fitting shoes. Shoes that are uncomfortable or loose can cause children to fall and risk injury.

* Adults should drive carefully. All drivers should slow down and anticipate children darting out into the roadways on Halloween. Drive slowly and pay attention to the roads.

There's a better way to move that old furniture...

Services held for Lillian Mowris

Lillian Vivian Mowris passed into eternal life on March 29, 2015 surrounded by her loving family at her daughter's home in Racine, where she lived the last 11 months. She succumbed to Progressive Supra-nuclear Palsy (PSP), three and a half years after her diagnosis. Lillian was born on April 1, 1925, in Steenerson Township, Minnesota. The daughter of Bill and Mamie (Huderle) Zavoral, Lillian was the sixth in a family of ten children, all of whom were born at home. She grew up on the family farm near Grygla, Minnesota, approximately 50 miles from the closest city. During her early years, she worked on the farm along with her siblings, harvesting hay and caring for farm animals. A ferocious reader, "Lalo," as she was called when she was a little girl, could often be found in the hay loft after sneaking off from chores to read. Her love of education continued throughout her life. As a child she won recognition as an accomplished speller, winning the regional contest and a trip to the state spelling bee. At the age of 13, she moved to the city to go to high school and later to drafting school. She was employed as a draftsman during WWII. She married Robert E. Mowris in 1946, was married for 33 years, and later divorced. They raised nine children, and built a family home at 2307 W. Memorial Dr. Janesville in 1956. She lived there for 55 years. Lillian loved gardening, particularly planting trees, painting with watercolors, reading, walking her dogs and watching television. In the winter she enjoyed cross-country skiing and hiking. Gathering her family around for family dinners, holidays or any reason to celebrate with her children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren, brothers and sisters, extended family and friends, was one of her greatest joys. Christmas and the 4th of July were her favorite holidays and she pulled out all the stops to make them memorable for more than 60 years. Lillian was a true feminist who taught tolerance, acceptance, humility and strength to her children, grandchildren and great grandchildren with her words and actions. Her creative nature shown in the hundreds of ways that she shared with her family. Her gentle spirit graced all of us. Her intelligence saved us from difficult times and her interminable faith and optimism touched everyone she met. She was a champion of the less fortunate, and would give the shirt off her back if someone in the family needed help. She loved and was loved to the moon and back. As a devoted naturalist, she supported many environmental and wildlife organizations, including the Sierra Club, the Arbor Day Foundation, the Natural Resources Defense Council and the World Wildlife Fund. She also served as President of the Washington School PTA and was a den mother for many years. She had been employed at various companies over the years, including Sintered Specialties, Monterey Mills, Janesville Parker High School, Pleasant Company, Wal-Mart and Andy Garcia Productions, Inc.

Lillian is survived by her nine children, 26 grandchildren, and 18 great grandchildren, of whom she was so proud: daughter Judith Mowris of Janesville, son Gerald (Leah Sachtjen) Mowris of Madison, son Richard (Mary) Mowris of Rockford, IL, son David (Mona) Mowris of La Crosse, son Robert J. (Kathy Carlson) Mowris of Olympic Valley, CA, daughter Mary (Tom) Dohmeier of Glenview, IL, daughter Sue Mowris (Andy Garcia) of Verona, WI, daughter Kathryn (Marty) Aiken of Racine, WI, son Michael (Ivette) Mowris of Janesville; and her grandchildren Angela Dongarra, (her children Harrison, Grace and Teagan), Nicholas (Sara) Dongarra, (their children Cecelia and Jake), Amber (Brent) Seefeld (their children Abigail, Jaxon, Georgia and Cooper), Maya (Matt) Roherty (their daughter Ella), Anthony (Amber) Dongarra (their children Vincent, Lily and Jack), Danae (Matt) Nakoneczny (their children Amelia and Carina), Jeff Mowris, Peter Mowris, Anna (Tom) Murphy, Vanessa Mowris, Nicole (Joe) Hemenway, (their children Sam and Drew), Syd (Tara) Mathes (their daughter Zoey); Matthew Mowris, Katie Mowris, Sarah Mowris, Anna Mowris, Storm Dohmeier, Keeley Dohmeier, Taylor Dohmeier, Samantha Garcia, Sierra Garcia, Zachary Chase-Mowris, Alain Maya, Benny Mowris, Halle Mowris, and Nathan Mowris; as well as her sisters Millie (Walt) Hendrix, Dolly Kammer, Irene (Lee) Rising and Marion Vencill, and her brother Jerome (Judee) Zavoral and many nieces and nephews. Her parents, a sister, Dolores, and her brothers Ernest, Robert and Ronald preceded her in death.

The family wishes to express our heartfelt gratitude to the staff at Hospice Alliance in Racine for their unfailing help in caring for our mom.

Memorials may be made to the PSP (Progressive Supra-Nuclear) Organization online at www.curePSP.org or to Hospice Alliance at www.hospicealliance.org. A visitation was held at SCHNEIDER FUNERAL HOME in Janesville, WI, Tues. Apr. 7. Funeral services were held on Wed. Apr. 8 at SCHNEIDER FUNERAL HOME.

Mille Lacs ice anglers allowed to keep 1 walleye, 5 northern Anglers may keep one walleye between 18 and 20 inches or one longer than 28 inches when ice fishing begins on Mille Lacs Lake this winter.

The winter walleye regulation goes into effect on Tuesday, Dec. 1, and extends through Sunday, Feb. 28, 2016.

The Minnesota Department of Natural Resources decision reflects the Mille Lacs Fisheries Advisory Committee's desire to keep winter fishing open all season.

"The clear consensus among committee members was to implement a conservative regulation allowing fishing to continue throughout the winter without the risk of closure," said Don Pereira, DNR fisheries chief. "We believe this regulation meets that criteria."

If winter walleye harvest approaches the established cap, catch-and-release will be implemented so angling can continue.

The DNR made the decision after considering three regulation options it presented for committee discussion on Wednesday, Oct. 21, in Garrison. Discussion among committee members provided the DNR with good input and positive direction, reinforcing the DNR's belief that the regulation protecting small walleye was the wisest choice.

During last year's ice fishing season, Mille Lacs anglers could keep two walleye from 18 to 20 inches, except one out of those two walleye could be longer than 28 inches.

"We're all working together to assure great winter opportunities while staying conservative enough to ensure the long-term health of the fishery," said Dean Hanson, advisory committee co-chair and owner of Agate Bay Resort on Mille Lacs Lake. "The 2013 walleye year class will provide some great catch-and-release action, and folks still will have the opportunity to harvest a fish."

DNR staff will monitor creel data every two weeks during the winter. If angler walleye harvest appears likely to exceed this year's 5,000-pound cap, catch-and-release walleye fishing would go into effect. State anglers harvested 3,100 pounds of walleye last winter.

Tribal biologists and the DNR agreed Oct. 15 to set the winter harvest cap for state anglers at 5,000 pounds after September fish assessment data showed that pounds of spawning-age walleye and numbers of walleye from the 2013 year class were above established benchmarks.

"The committee stressed members' support for a conservative management strategy that helps ensure the future health of the lake," Pereira said. "The DNR fully supports that approach."

Consistent with the committee's discussion, the DNR also will reduce the limit of northern pike on Mille Lacs from 10 to five, with one fish longer than 30 inches allowed. Anglers may only keep a northern longer than 30 inches if they have caught two pike shorter than 30 inches and have both in immediate possession.

The pike regulation goes into effect on Dec. 1 and continues through Sunday, March 27, 2016. Its intent is to provide anglers with additional opportunity to catch and keep fish on Mille Lacs.

More information about Mille Lacs Lake management is available on the DNR website at www.mndnr.gov/millelacs.

About the Mille Lacs Fisheries Advisory Committee
DNR Commissioner Tom Landwehr appointed 17 Minnesotans representing diverse perspectives and interests to the newly formed advisory committee to give the DNR input on fisheries management programs and related issues for Mille Lacs Lake.

"We wanted to promote more citizen and community engagement in fisheries decisions on the lake," said Landwehr. "These dedicated people bring an important perspective to our work and will help the DNR make decisions that will shape the lake's future."

Members of the committee will contribute to the broader understanding of biological, social and economic aspects of the Mille Lacs fishery and will develop recommendations on potential approaches and regulations to solve identified issues.

Committee members represent diverse interests: local business and tourism; tribal and academic; and local county officials.

More information about the committee members is available at www.mndnr.gov/millelacs under the tab "Building a Future."
