Three UMN Crookston students earn Masonic Lodge scholarship

Crookston Masonic Lodge recently awarded three University of Minnesota Crookston students with scholarships from proceeds of their annual vidalia onion sales event. Sophomore Christopher Robert Carlson, freshman Alex Kozitka and freshman Jack Garmen each received $1,000 from the scholarship that's exclusive to UMN Crookston. Lodge member Lester Wilkens said their group sold 5,000 pounds of onions in approximately two-and-a-half days.

Minnesota's Voting Season Starts September 23

Voting season is just around the corner in Minnesota and now is the time to get registered. Using mnvotes.gov, Minnesotans can register to vote, check their registration, and update their registration on their computer or smartphone. Early voting will begin on September 23. Minnesota registered voters can request an absentee ballot to vote from home at mnvotes.gov or vote early with an absentee ballot at a local election office. "Minnesota leads the nation in voter registration, still we know that as many as 550,000 Minnesotans who are eligible to vote are not yet registered," said Secretary of State Steve Simon. "That's why our office is working with local elections partners around the state to ensure that every Minnesotan has the opportunity to make their voice heard at the polls this voting season."

Japanese apple rust has been found at several nurseries and orchards

Japanese apple rust, a disease affecting apples, crabapples, and junipers, has been confirmed in Minnesota for the first time. The disease is caused by the fungal plant pathogen Gymnosporangium yamadae. MDA staff recently discovered the fungus through surveys and routine inspections at several orchards and nurseries in Dakota, Rice, and Scott counties. Survey efforts will continue to help officials better understand the distribution of Japanese apple rust in the state.

Although new to Minnesota, this rust has been in the northeastern U.S. for 10 years or more. It was found in Wisconsin in 2021. Gymnosporangium yamadae is native to parts of Asia where it is a significant pest of apples and can result in defoliation of susceptible cultivars.

"Discovering a new plant pathogen, like Japanese apple rust, is always a concern for our gardeners and farmers in Minnesota," said Mark Abrahamson, Director of MDA's Plant Protection Division. "However, as we've observed on the East Coast where Japanese apple rust has been prevalent for over a decade, there have been no significant impacts to apple production. We are cautiously optimistic that the same will be true in Minnesota."

Japanese apple rust requires two different host plants to complete its life cycle, juniper and apple or crabapple. The MDA has observed leaf spots on many different varieties of both crabapple and apple in Minnesota. The leaf spots may be deep red, orange, or yellow with a red ring. Finger-like projections, which are fungal spore producing structures, can be seen on the lower leaf surface just below the spots. The spores produced in leaf spots on apple and crabapple trees do not reinfect apple trees. Rather, these spores are carried by wind and infect junipers.

Japanese apple rust has not yet been observed on junipers in Minnesota. Infected junipers have small woody galls that produce a bright orange gelatinous fungal mass during spring rains. Spores produced in juniper galls are carried by wind and rain to infect the leaves of apples and crabapples. Minnesota's native juniper, the eastern red cedar (Juniperus virginiana), is not susceptible to Japanese apple rust. Several junipers commonly used in landscapes in Minnesota are hosts, including Chinese juniper (Juniperus chinensis), Savin juniper (Juniperus sabina), Sargent juniper (J. chinensis L. var. sargentii), flaky juniper (J. squamata), and garden juniper

(J. procumbens). The MDA will continue to work with apple growers and the nursery and landscape industry to learn more about the impact of Japanese apple rust.

Jackson Harren looks to add his expertise to the advancement of manufacturing to the region.

Warroad Native Tabbed as Mechatronics Instructor at Northland Community & Technical College's New Northwest Minnesota Facility

September 12, 2022 — Northland Community & Technical College is excited to welcome Jackson Harren as a new mechatronics program instructor at the Advanced Resource Center for Innovation and Education (ARC) in Warroad, Minnesota.

Harren attended the University of Alabama in Huntsville and obtained his B.S.E. in Industrial and Systems Engineering and an M.S. in Management of Technology. Harren returned to Warroad from Huntsville to join the Manufacturing Engineering team at Marvin, where he served in a leadership role for several years.

After 13 years with Marvin, Harren left to attend to two family businesses. The Northern Toboggan company, founded in 1995 by his dad John, handcrafts wooden sledging equipment and snowshoes for customers throughout North America. Also in the spirit of outdoor adventure is Harren's second family business, Wintergreen Northern Wear, based in Ely, Minnesota.

"The time I've taken to focus on the businesses and entrepreneurship, in general, has been rewarding," shared Harren. "Not only were we able to build capable teams and improve processes and partnerships, but I also had a lot of fun doing it." Looking toward the future, he is ready for his new adventure with the Mechatronics program in his local community.

"I understand firsthand the need for tech skills in our area," shared Harren. "I looked at this as an opportunity to help facilitate the learning and advancement of these programs. It is exciting that this has come to Warroad, and I wanted to be involved."

In August 2021, Northland and Marvin announced a new partnership to bring an accredited mechatronics program to Warroad. The program features innovative curriculum and delivery methods that will support the growing need for advanced manufacturing automation skill sets in the region.

Students of the program will be able to earn an A.A.S. degree or any number of certificates within a 60-credit program. Courses will also be available on a stand-alone basis to help students master a specific new skill or take their personal interests to the next level.

"It is a huge advantage for students and local industry to have this type of training available. These programs can be continually improved to best fit the needs of the area," Harren explained. "It's a dynamic opportunity to have the resources of Northland teamed up with local businesses and it makes for a bright future."

The ARC is the home of Northland's northwest Minnesota mechatronics program. The new space has been fitted with a mechatronics lab, a student study and meeting space, and a room for future programming collaboration.

A ribbon-cutting and grand opening ceremony for the ARC and mechatronics program will be held at 12 p.m. on October 7, 2022.

Enrollment for the mechatronics program in Warroad, or on Northland's East Grand Forks campus, is now open on a rolling basis. Scholarships and financial aid may be used toward tuition costs. More information on the new mechatronics opportunity can be found at northlandcollege.edu.

Theology in the Trenches

By Kathleen Kjolhaug

Trying to Understand—Being Misunderstood

I came across this young writer, Hallie Dye. She's refreshingly wise and allows us to peer into her soul from time to time. She's given me permission to share a snippet of her work. It resonated. I pray it resonates with you, too. She offers perspective—by inviting us into the common threads of being human. Her topic I'm sharing is on being misunderstood. Spoiler alert! Her writing resonates deep within the soul while putting life in perspective—Truth filled perspective. Her words are not only filled with wisdom, but allow us to lay them over upon the very thing most often needed—forgiveness. Here is what she says:

"There is nothing worse than feeling misunderstood. Behind it is knowing you truly meant well—and the belief from the other side that you aren't who you say you are or that your intentions are false. To make matters worse, this usually occurs in the moments we most intended to be faithful—both to God and to others—and are found coming up short even in our best efforts.

"Not only does this emotion push me further towards the Lord and away from pleasing people when it feels impossible to do so, but it also made me realize, I've never truly been misunderstood. Because, you see—while putting forth my best efforts, even though I may have had no ill intent, I am imperfect. I do have faults, and I do fail people. So there's always some truth there. But the Lord never fails. He is who He says He is—always.

"From giving up every divine privilege, to the life Jesus lived—vulnerable and lowly, constantly sacrificing comfort in order to feed the needs of others—to the death He died at the hands of a crowd who chose to misunderstand Him—as if He isn't who He says He is and as if He won't do what He says He will—as if our good isn't at the forefront of His every thought forever. When asked if He was indeed the King of the Jews, He did not come to His own defense because His actions had spoken and the choice was theirs to make.

"He allowed them to misunderstand Him when they beat Him, ridiculed Him, and left Him to die on a cross. He allowed them to misunderstand Him when He lay seemingly defeated and silent for three days leaving them to think they had been right, after all. When He rose, though many turned and believed, He allowed many still to misunderstand and believe it wasn't true—that He wasn't true. And He's still allowing them to misunderstand...today.

"Though they chose against every prophecy fulfilled, promise kept, and miracle performed, He never faltered and never stopped loving them.

"Lord, forgive me for misunderstanding You when I felt You were absent. Forgive me for misunderstanding You when I grew frustrated when You chose for my good and not for my wants. Forgive me for thinking I ever knew what it felt like to be misunderstood and help me to love, persevere, and serve the way You did, the way You do, and the way you will continue to do." Amen.

Hallie Dye, writer and stay at home mother of three kiddos, is married to her high school sweetheart. She hails from Louisiana and the best way to find her is on instagram. Her podcast, "Saltworks," is in the works. It will feature extraordinary wisdom from ordinary people and will be launched this Fall.

AD DEADLINE NOON FRIDAYS

Ask a Trooper

by Sgt. Jesse Grabow Minnesota State Patrol

Question: Is it legal for farmers to load hay on a state highway? Our neighbor bales several miles of state highway ditches. To load the round bales he drives down the highway with a pickup and bale wagon. His son is in the ditch with a tractor and loader. The son gets a bale on the loader and driving perpendicular to the road drives up the ditch and puts the bale on the bale wagon. The son with the loader stops with his front wheels on the shoulder of the road and puts the bale on the trailer. The bale wagon is stopped on the state highway in the lane of traffic so the bale can be loaded. Is this legal?

Answer: This would not be safe or legal. The loading would need to take place off the highway. With harvest season upon us, this is a great reminder that we all need to share the road.

What drivers should know about farm vehicles on the road:

- Farm equipment is large and heavy, making it hard for operators to accelerate, slow down and stop.

- The equipment makes wide turns and sometimes crosses over the center line.
- Farm vehicles can create large blind spots, making it difficult for operators to see approaching vehicles.

Safety guidance for motorists:

- Pay attention at all times when driving.
- Watch for debris dropped by trucks. It is safer to brake or slowly drive through debris than to veer into oncoming cars or off the road.
- When approaching farm equipment, slow down and use caution. Put additional space between your vehicle and the farm equipment ahead. Don't assume the equipment operator can see you.
- Be patient and wait for a safe place to pass.
- Wear seatbelts.
- Drive with headlights on.

Safety guidance for farm equipment operators:

- Use lights and flashers to make equipment more visible.

- Use slow-moving vehicle emblems on equipment traveling less than 30 mph.
- Drive slow-moving vehicles in the right-hand lane as close to the edge of the roadway as possible.
- Consider using an escort vehicle when moving equipment, especially at night and if the equipment is large enough that it may extend across the center line.
- Avoid encouraging or signaling motorists to pass. Pull over when safe, and let traffic pass.
- Pick up any debris left on the highway by the equipment or contact MnDOT to remove it.
- Plan your routes so wide equipment will not hit or damage signs, guardrails, light poles and other roadway structures.

If you have any questions concerning traffic related laws or issues in Minnesota, send your questions to Trp. Jesse Grabow – Minnesota State Patrol at 1000 Highway 10 West, Detroit Lakes, MN 56501-2205. (You can follow him on Twitter @MSPPIO_NW or reach him at, jesse.grabow@state.mn.us).

More Rollag Fun

By Auctioneer Eric W. Mickelson

All of you who have read any articles that I have written know I am a John Deere fan. Not too far behind, I have a love for Minneapolis Moline tractors. The Minneapolis Moline company has a long history. In 1887 the Minneapolis Threshing Machine Company (MTM Co.) was formed. They started with threshing machines and eventually manufactured steam powered tractors. In 1902 the Minneapolis Steel and Machinery Company (MS&M Co.) was also founded. Their engineers developed a lightweight tractor line using the name Twin City. Due to a depressed farm economy the MTM Co, MS&M Co., and the Moline Implement Co. of Moline, Illinois, merged on March 30, 1929. They formed the Minneapolis Moline Power Company. I have a few Moline's in my lineup. Last weekend when I took my yearly pilgrimage to the Western Minnesota Steam Threshers Reunion in Rollag my son, Heath, and I were checking out some tractors and I came across a real beauty(to me)!! It was a Minneapolis Moline UTI.

The UTI is the industrial version of the model U tractor. The were built from 1940-1959 and two different versions were available. The total production was less than 400 tractors. It featured larger "truck" style front tires and a heavy duty front axle. The example Heath and I came across was beautifully restored and also had a cab. The restoration job was like many today, the tractor I am sure looked better than it did when new. The UTI has the same engine as the Model U tractor, 4 cylinders and 283 cu. In.

I guess I have to get my priorities straight. I have a couple John Deeres on the block right now waiting to be restored. But, I can't wait to dig into a few of my Minneapolis Molines!

How about a little tractor trivia!!

- True or False: The UTIL featured a 6 speed "shuttle shift" transmission.
- What do you think the UTIL-M tractor was made for?
- The bore and stroke of the UTI(same as the U) was?
A) 4 X 4 B) 4.25 X 5 C) 5 X 5
- The UTS(standard tread tractor)claimed to have 31hp but was actually tested _____ With
A) 35hp B) 38hp C) 41 hp
- Minneapolis Moline factory on Lake Street and Minnehaha Avenue, was located in what city?

Answers: 1. True 2. The Military 3. B. 4.25 X 5 4. C. 41hp 5. Minneapolis

This is me admiring the UTI at Rollag!!

UTIL-M. Military tractor! TRI-COUNTY CANARY

Obituary for Mary Wichser

Mary Joy Wichser died on Saturday, February 19th, 2022 of breast cancer in Marina del Rey, California at the age of 76.

Funeral service for Mary Joy Wichser, daughter of Manley and Thea Anderson, will be held at Our Savior's Lutheran Church, Grygla, MN, on October 1st at 1pm.

Mary was born July 21, 1945, in Thief River Falls, Minnesota. She grew up on a dairy farm near Grygla and graduated from Goodridge High School in 1963. She spent a few years in Minneapolis; because she did not enjoy Minnesota winters she moved to Los Angeles, California

She had strong opinions and enjoyed debating issues of the day. She also enjoyed doing difficult crosswords such as the New York Times Sunday puzzle; she was an avid reader and was a fan of the Minnesota Twins, especially during her visits back home to Minnesota.

She was married to Al Wichser; they loved the ocean and lived on a sailboat for many years. The couple helped organize an annual Marlin fishing contest off Catalina Island. They were longtime members of the Marina del Rey Yacht Club where Mary served a term as Commodore. Mary also created and tended a flower garden on the Marina grounds.

Mary worked at the University of Minnesota and the UCLA library in California

Mary is survived by her husband Al Wichser, her sisters Janice Anderson, Elaine Barclay, Glenda (Gary) Gobelman, Kari Anderson, and her brother Roger (Marion) Anderson.

She was preceded in death by her parents Manley and Thea Anderson and brother Glenn Anderson.

Obituary for John "Jerry" Berg

Uff da, this guy is gonna be missed.

Raise your coffee cup to the kindest of men!!!

John Gerald "Jerry" Berg was born at home in Alvarado, MN in 1939, and surprised everyone by passing quickly on Sept. 3, 2022. Dad is Up North now.

He was preceded in death by his beloved parents, John Everett Berg and Gladys Irene Berg (Trail, MN); sister Jean Frisk; and wife Laura.

He was a Marine and a retired pressman at the Star Tribune newspaper.

He is survived by...broken hearts. He will be missed at hockey rinks, hunting trips, lutefisk dinners, golf courses, pool tables (sorry if he owed you money), in backyards, front yards, on pontoons, at the Trail Hilton. He will be missed by his adored sister Judy, brother Jimmy and their families. Missed by cousins, nephews, and nieces. Missed by his girlfriend Diane Fuglestad, who brought joy into his life these past eight years. Missed by a whole block of wonderful neighbors. Missed by former coworkers and many, many good friends of all ages (Zoe) and species (Matt the Cat, squirrels, crows, crappies, blue jays). And especially by his two rug rats: son Jack (Paula) and daughter Nicole. Dad will live on in all of you and for that we are grateful.

A gathering will be forthcoming, so if you have stories like the time his hunting buddies switched the apple in his apple crisp for a chunk of potato, please get them ready.

And if you never met him, I'm sorry, he probably would've got a kick out of you.

Important reasons to visit a primary care physician

• Vaccines and shots: Primary care providers (PCPs) offer routine vaccinations and can ensure that individuals are up-to-date on the immunizations they need to stay safe. Tetanus, diphtheria, shingles, pertussis, flu, and now COVID-19 vaccines are vital to overall health.

• Medical referrals: A PCP can assess a health situation and refer a patient to the correct specialist if more extensive care is needed. However, many chronic conditions can be monitored and addressed by a PCP.

• Cancer screenings: UW Medicine, which specializes in patient care, research and physician training in Seattle, says most people will need a few cancer screenings as they age, including colonoscopies, Pap smears, mammograms, and other important diagnostic tests for cancer. PCPs are usually the first line of defense against cancer and can ensure patients receive the screenings they need.

• Non-life-threatening illnesses or injuries: Unless a situation is life-threatening or severe, thereby warranting a trip to the emergency room, most people can visit their PCPs for help treating a variety of conditions. When in doubt, individuals should first consult with their general practitioners about the right course of treatment.

• Routine lab work: Blood and urine tests often are part of an annual well visit checks. Many PCP offices have phlebotomists on staff so that lab work can be conducted in the convenience of one place and then sent out for testing.

• Work or sports physicals: Certain employers require physical examinations, as do schools and recreational sports leagues. PCP offices are the place to go for these types of examinations, which are generally recommended annually.

Primary care physicians are often the first people to turn to for a bevy of health and wellness needs.

Letter to the Editor

September 10, 2022

To the Editor,

What a Crock! It's high time we start telling it like it is instead of sugar coating what the pro-abortion people are calling "comprehensive reproductive health care."

What, exactly, is meant by comprehensive reproductive health care? Literally, it means providing the best possible care to ensure the good health and well-being of mother and child from time of conception to birth. Abortion is not a part of reproductive health care.

Our deceitful Minnesota Attorney General Keith Ellison recently felt compelled to warn us all about the evils of Crisis Pregnancy Centers, and how they are trying to dissuade or prevent "pregnant people" (that would mean pregnant women, of course, since they are still the only kind of "people" who can get pregnant) from accessing their constitutionally protected right under the Minnesota Constitution to a safe and legal abortion. Safe? For whom? It certainly isn't safe for the baby! Ellison and his cohorts don't want anybody to have an opportunity to talk you out of getting an abortion, or to let you know that there may be other options for you – or other "choices." They would much rather channel you to the largest abortion mill in the country, the deceptively named "Planned Parenthood." It should be called "Planned Termination of Parenthood."

Nevada Senator Catherine Cortez Masto recently tweeted a message that tells us where these pro-abortion people stand on the issue of reproductive health care services: "Crisis pregnancy centers consistently mislead vulnerable women about the health care services they provide. I joined my colleagues in cosponsoring the Stop Anti-Abortion Disinformation Act to crack down on false advertising about abortion services by these fake clinics."

Make no mistake about it – Keith Ellison, Senators Tina Smith, Amy Klobuchar, and Catherine Cortez Masto are all advocates for the abortion industry. They are not pro-choice. They are pro-abortion.

They don't want you to go to a Pregnancy Care Center. You will find out that they actually do not mislead vulnerable women about health care services, and that they do offer such services as Pregnancy testing, Ultrasounds, Abortion counseling, Adoption resources, Parenthood support, STD treatment, and personal, non-judgmental psychological support. To call them fake clinics, and to claim they offer no valuable services is an unadulterated, bald-faced lie. Are you listening, Mr. Ellison? Are you listening Senator Cortez Masto? We're talking to you.

Pregnancy Care Centers do not offer abortion services, and they do not offer referrals to abortion mills. They do not try to deceive you or hide anything from you, and they do provide information about abortion procedures. And, yes, they will explain options other than abortion, and may likely plead for the life of your unborn child, and try to dissuade you from having an abortion.

And what does Planned Parenthood do? Here's the raw, unvarnished version. They offer abortions. They are the largest abortion provider in America. They'll kill your baby in the womb, pull it out, butcher it up like a chicken, and sell the parts.

Do you know why the pro-abortion people are so dead set against any restriction on late term abortions? Simple answer. Because the body parts they want to harvest are more fully developed in a late term abortion, and thus, more "valuable." If that isn't enough to turn your stomach....

This event will allow community members to explore the magnitude of what Northland offers in educational opportunities, workforce development, and industry partnerships.

"I know how important the college is to the community and we are pleased to invite you in to see what all that Northland offers," said Northland President Sandy Kiddoo. "This is an extraordinary opportunity for Northland to show what it means to make a difference in people's lives and be a critical workforce resource."

Attendees will have the opportunity to meet Northland leaders, faculty, and staff, experience interactive program demonstrations, tour state-of-the-art classrooms, and lab spaces, and mingle with fellow community members.

Appetizers will be served, and The Hive will host a cash bar. Prize drawings will be held for gift certificates to local businesses, with a grand prize drawing for a $100 gift card to Sky's Fine Dining and tickets to see Carrie Underwood at the Alerus Center.

Kiddoo continued, "As a college committed to providing access to a quality education at an affordable cost, opening doors is what we do best as a community of educators. Our amazing faculty and staff want to engage with you and demonstrate what we do in our facilities every day to educate students."

Throughout the evening, visitors are welcome to speak with experts in a wide variety of fields, including healthcare, aerospace, manufacturing, public safety, business, liberal arts, education, automotive, agriculture, and more.

Grouse season opens Saturday, Sept. 17

Contact: James Burnham, DNR hunter and angler recruitment, retention and reactivation coordinator, 651-259-5191.

Ruffed grouse and spruce grouse hunting season begins Saturday, Sept. 17, and lasts through Jan. 1, 2023. Woodcock season is from Saturday, Sept. 24, through Monday, Nov. 7. Hunters can find a variety of grouse and woodcock hunting information, including where and when to hunt, regulations, and safety and educational resources for those who want to learn to hunt these forest birds, at the Minnesota DNR's grouse hunting webpage (mndnr.gov/Hunting/Grouse).

Additionally, hunters seeking sharp-tailed grouse need to know the hunting season in the east-central zone remains closed. The hunting season in the northwest sharp-tailed grouse zone will open Saturday, Sept. 17, and last through Wednesday, Nov. 30.

Anyone can register for an outdoor skills webinar on ruffed grouse hunting basics at noon Wednesday, Sept. 14, on the outdoor skills and stewardship page of the DNR website (mndnr.gov/Discover).

The basics of hunting seasons be killed. The North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission breaks down hunting seasons into big game, waterfowl, small game, and webless migratory game birds. Seasons vary depending on where hunters live.

The hunting education resource Hunter-Ed says hunting seasons are determined by the type of animal, the environment and animal characteristics like mating season. Wildlife biologists in various regions study animal populations and make recommendations on hunting seasons. "Open season" is when a species may be legally hunted, and tends to coincide with when the population of that species is at its highest, without interfering with breeding times.

Many hunters eagerly await "opening day" so they can start their hunting right away. The season is "closed" when hunters are no longer allowed to go after that game. Food shortages, extreme temperatures and low population numbers may affect season duration. Archery seasons tend to begin before firearm seasons in many states. Hunting outside of seasons is known as poaching and is punishable by law.

Turkey is typically hunted in the spring or fall. Migratory waterfowl hunting tends to open in late September and early October. The seasons to hunt deer, and their close cousins like caribou, moose and reindeer, open in late September and early October, continuing into November for firearms hunting. However, according to the hunting guide CleverHunters.com, deer seasons open up in the summer in Florida, South Carolina and Idaho.

Hunters will be required to obtain a hunting license. At the time of licensure, hunters also may be given tags for their game animals. A tag is a physical permit the hunter carries with him or her that must be attached to an animal immediately after it is felled. Hunters are reigned in by the number of tags they have, which will coordinate with game limits. The tag will need to be completed with the date and time of harvest and the location.

To learn more about hunting seasons where you live, contact your local fish and wildlife organization or visit www.huntingseasonhq.com for a state-by-state listing of hunting seasons.
