NCTC Robotics Team Advances to the VEX World Championship

THIEF RIVER FALLS, Minn. - This past Saturday, Northland Community and Technical College's Robotics Team earned the Excellence Award at the St. Cloud State University (SCSU) VEX U Regional Qualifier. Seven teams participated in the tournament including the University of Minnesota, Bemidji State University, St. Cloud State University, Pine Technical and Community College, and Northeast Community and Technical College (Nebraska). The Excellence Award is the highest honor at a VEX Robotics Competition. NCTC's robotics team advances to the VEX University Championship Tournament which is in Louisville Kentucky on April 20 – 23rd.

The VEX Robotics Challenge for 2015-2016 is called Nothing But Net. The challenge requires robots to gather foam rubber balls from the competition field and launch them into triangular shaped nets. The university competition requires teams to construct two robots that work together. Additional points can be earned if one robot is able to elevate the other robot a distance of 4" or 11" above the field. The real challenge is designing, building, and programming robots using primarily VEX Robotics Components. Select parts of the robots were sourced locally from Digi-Key Electronics and Fastenal.

NCTC's team consists of four students from NCTC's Electronics Technology Automated Systems (ETAS) Program. Skyler Schimanski, Justin Voecks, Kyle Meier, Ashley Holmes are also employees at Digi-Key Electronics. The team is coached by Andrew Dahlen, ETAS instructor. According to Kyle Meier, "It's been a great experience so far. We are looking forward to improving our design and program before the VEX World Competition."

A VEX Tournament consists of many parts. When teams arrive at the tournament each robot must pass inspection to determine if the robot is of a legal size and uses only legal components. During the qualification rounds the teams played 10 matches. NCTC ended the qualification rounds with nine wins and one loss. NCTC climbed all the way to the final match in the tournament, but lost to a team from St. Cloud State University.

In addition to the actual tournament playoff, teams are assessed by a panel of judges to determine a number of awards. The judge's panel is comprised of engineering professors and industry professionals. They evaluate each team by conducting interviews, observing the team's performance throughout the tournament, and scrutinizing the team's engineering notebook. The judges concluded that NCTC's team deserved the highest honor. This regional qualifying tournament only had one world invitation, and NCTC took it home by winning the Excellence Award.

Another part of the VEX Tournament was the Robot Skills and Programming Skills. In Robot Skills Teams have 60 seconds to rack up the points by remotely controlling their robots. NCTC's team earned second place in the robot skills portion of the tournament with a score of 179. The winning team had 181.

In the programming skills section, robots are pre-programmed to score points in 60 seconds. NCTC earned the highest score, 132 Points. Currently NCTC's programming skills score is the third highest Programming Skills Score in the world for the VEX University Competition.

Kyle, Skyler, Justin, and Ashley are now focused on improving their robot and fundraising to compete at the VEX University World Championship Tournament. The team will need $3000 to cover registration and travel expenses for the World Championship Tournament in Kentucky.

NCTC's Robotics Team is supported as an NCTC Student Club. They are also sponsored by the 360° Manufacturing and Applied Engineering Center of Excellence.

McIntosh Native Shares Her Travels from Around the World

McIntosh Heritage and Arts Center presented a slide show, on Thursday, January 28, 2015 at the Community Center, of the pictures that McIntosh native Frances Torgerson took during her travels around the world. Many gathered to see the sights that Frances saw during her adventurous life.

One of the highlights of the evening was a group of slides that were of an original Stave Church in Norway that she visited.

Immense stone cathedrals, were constructed in many parts of Europe during the middle ages. In Norway, a similar technique was used for building churches in wood. Thanks to the Vikings' interest in boat construction and home building, the technique and tradition of wood carving was further developed. The work culminated in stave churches. A Stave Church is a medieval wooden Christian church building once common in north-western Europe.

There are several types of Stave Churches, but one thing they have in common is corner posts (staves) and a framework of timber with wall planks standing on sills. These walls are known as stave walls, hence the name Stave Church.

The Churches' wooden doors and finials are beautifully carved. The decorations feature an intriguing combination of Christian motifs and what is often assumed to be pre-Christian Viking themes with animals and dragons.

Along with the slide show, there was much discussion of her slides, and a performance by Phil and Sue Lee.

Frances Torgerson, who passed away in September 2011, was born and raised in McIntosh. She received a degree from Bemidji State University for teaching and later a Master's degree at the University of Wisconsin. She taught many places including Oklee and North Dakota State University in Fargo. Frances traveled throughout the United States, Canada, Scandinavia, and Africa.

Arlene Eggers, Mae Mero, Debbie Harriman, and Robin Shimpa enjoy the slide show and music during the McIntosh Heritage and Arts Center presentation of Frances Torgerson's travel slides.

Mother and son, Phil and Sue Lee performed many songs for those who gathered to see the slide show of Franny Torgerson's adventures on January 28th at the McIntosh Community Center.

Advancing Farm to Institution in Minnesota

Regional Farm to Institution Networking events planned to strengthen relationships between growers and buyers, large and small

Getting Minnesota apples, tomatoes, and other locally grown foods on the menus of schools and other institutions such as hospitals, long term care facilities and childcare centers requires cross-sector partnerships, community support and relationship building. The Northwest is one of four regional Farm to Institution Networking events taking place across the state between February and April. The aim is attract buyers and growers from across the Northwest region to community host Thief River Falls, thanks to support from a number of organizations behind Thief River Fall's Growing Forward project.

The workshops are designed to meet the needs of the region and strengthen connections to advance partnerships between local farmers and community institutions. Farm to Institution builds strong communities, healthy people and resilient local farms, creating a "win-win" for all parties. This year's gatherings build on an earlier rounds of farmer-buyer networking events facilitated by Renewing the Countryside and the University of Minnesota Extension's Farm to Cafeteria workshops. Over the years, successful farmer-buyer relationships developed at these events have led to successful, ongoing Farm to Institution projects, and made accessible current information about local food purchasing regulations and good agricultural practices.

These events are coordinated by Renewing the Countryside in partnership with the Sustainable Farming Association of Minnesota, the Regional Sustainable Development Partnerships, Minnesota Institute for Sustainable Agriculture, the Minnesota Department of Health, many local partners, and are funded, in part, by the Minnesota Department of Agriculture.

For more information and to register, visit: http://www.renewingthecountryside.org/farm_to_institution

Contact Grace at 612-520-1675 or grace@rteinfo.org for more information on the Northwest event.

Shakopee Mdewakanton Sioux Community donates lifesaving AED’s to the Red Lake Nation

Photos and Story Edited By Michael Meurers

The Shakopee Mdewakanton Sioux Community (SMSC) generously donated two, lifesaving heart defibrillators (AED’s) to the Red Lake Nation on Wednesday, January 27, 2016. Nathan Crooks, SMSC Member Representative and Fire Fighter for the Mdewakanton Sioux Community Department, delivered the two AED’s to the Red Lake Nation College and provided a short training session for college staff.

Automated External Defibrillators, known as AED’s, are one of the most important life-saving tools in the field for first responders. One of the AED’s will be placed in the first floor of the new Red Lake Nation College campus in the Bremer Student Union. The other one will be placed in the Tribal Fitness Center of the Indian Health Service (IHS) on the Red Lake reservation. These donations are yet another excellent example of the tremendous generosity of the Shakopee Mdewakanton Sioux Community. The SMSC has provided Red Lake and hundreds of other Tribes and non-Indian Communities across the country, AED’s to help provide assistance to organizations that need, but cannot afford, these critical, life-saving AED’s.

The SMSC has also provided the Red Lake Tribe with large donations to help build community centers, a Boy’s and Girl’s Club, a modern community skate park for children, and gaming loans to help build two of Red Lake’s new casino operations. With the gaming

Happy Birthday, John Deere!!

By Auctioneer, Eric Mickelson

The history of my beloved John Deere company traces its way back to the American Revolution. John Deere was born on February 7, 1804, in Vermont (Happy Brlthday!). His father was William Rinold Deere, who was an English immigrant. His mother, Sarah Yates Deere, was the daughter of a British soldier who had stayed in America after the Revolutionary War.

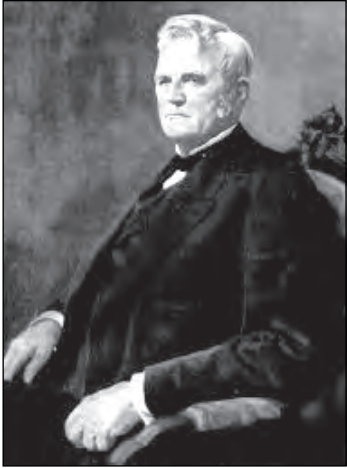

John’s father died when he was young and after a short try at Middlebury College John decided to become a blacksmith’s apprentice. In 1827 he was married to Demarius Lamb and continued his blacksmith trade in Vermont. Due to a depressed farm economy in Vermont, he decided to move to Illinois where farmers were beginning to break the vast prairie. He settled in Grand Detour, Illinois about 100 miles west of Chicago.

Farmers on the prairie of Illinois were having problems with the wooden and iron plows of the day. Wooden plows were not strong enough and iron plows would not scour. Legend has it that in 1837, while working in his shop, John Deere saw an old steal saw blade in his shop and got the idea to fashion it into a plow bottom. The smooth shiny steel cut through the sod and the gummy soil slid off the bottom without sticking. The new steel plow was a success and John Deere was busy making more plows! John Deere went from that first plow in 1837 to 100 plows in 1842. Seeing the need for a better distribution center John Deere moved the operation to Moline, Illinois.

In 1849 over 1,200 plows were produced! The company continues to grow.

On May 17, 1886, John Deere died at the age of 82. He was described as an energetic and purposeful man, though a man of few words! Although not always a good money manager he was a leader who passed many of his leadership skills to his successor and son, Charles Deere.

Much of John Deere’s involvement with his company was centered around plows and eventually other tillage implements and wagons. John Deere left this world long before any tractor would bear his name. But, I’m sure he would have been proud of the company’s long line of two-cylinder and modern farm tractors. Happy Brlthday John Deere and thanks for the legacy!!

Theology in the Trenches By Kathleen Kjolhaug

At Your Beck and Call

My old LG cell phone works. I can text with the best of them by tapping each button three to four times in order to get the letter or number needed, and if it falls to the ground, it will not shatter. Going over on internet usage is impossible because I do not use it, and if lost, within minutes it is returned; nobody wants the old dinosaur. There are so many plusses to keeping it simple by keeping my old LG.

However, there’s a battle going on within our household. A constant undercurrent of public opinion rises more oft than not. It rears its ugly head in many forms, but so far, I’ve held the line. The line I hold might appear a bit outdated, but I like what it stands for, the content within, and the familiar. Like an old friend, I have found companionship and faithfulness with what others are trying desperately to take from me. But every so often, I begin to second guess myself. The possibilities of casting off the old and joining others looks inviting; electronic devices tempt.

As I’ve been caught in places which hook people on the usage of such things, I must admit that I am indeed tempted. The idea of joining the world in conversation through group texts and the like...looks fun. Gone will be the empty squares where icons or pictures are supposed to be. At times the messages don’t transfer, and as I stare at those small empty spaces, I wonder what the rest of the world is reading.

But, just when I am about to make a decision to go bigger, better, newer, my phone bill arrives reminding me of much. I am reminded that a new contract would bind, and that at this point, I own it and it does not own me. That said, there is one thing above all others keeping me connected to my old device more so than not. And, this is what it is.

Every so often, say about once a month, a voice message will shuffle itself all the way back to the beginning of my other voice messages. In order for me to get it, I must click my way through each and every one I’ve chosen to save. When I shuffle, I hear the voice parade of moments which help anchor my heart and which help anchor me to this device.

“Yes...Kathy, this is your dad...just wondering if you can stay for hot dogs tonight...”

“Hello mom, this is...just calling to say Happy Mother’s Day...”

“...calling to see how you’re doing...”

By now you know it’s not the messages, but the voices which speak. Out of love they call, out of love we answer. And so it is. Deuteronomy 11:18-19 gives reference: “You shall put these words of Mine in your heart and soul...teach them to your children, talking about them when you are at home and when you are away, when you lie down and when you rise.” Leave them in message form and bless others with voice... His voice. Amen.

Ask a Trooper by Sgt. Jesse Grabow Minnesota State Patrol

Question: What is the law about a disability parking certificate/tag that hangs from your rearview mirror? The instruction sheet that is mailed out by the Minnesota Department of Public Safety states, “Driving with the hang tag on your mirror could result in a ticket for obstructed view”. When attempting to look out the windshield with the tag on the rearview mirror I was amazed at how much visual space is obscured. I believe it is a real safety concern when people drive with the tag on the rearview mirror.

For those with a disability parking tag, keep your tag in a secured location when driving, and only put the tag up when you need to park. When you need to drive, take the tag down. This should become as much of a habit as putting your seat-belt on. Those other items that people like to hang from the mirror can also cause an obstruction (air fresheners, fuzzy dice, etc.)

Law enforcement can and will conduct traffic stops when seeing an object that is blocking the driver’s view. A citation or warning will be issued to the driver. With more than 400 fatalities on Minnesota roads in 2015, the Department of Public Safety/Minnesota State Patrol is committed to making our roads safer through enforcement and education.

A portion of state statutes were used with permission from the Office of the Revisor of Statutes. If you have any questions concerning traffic related laws or issues in Minnesota, send your questions to Trp. Viking Funeral Services in the Alaskan Wilderness

A new business, bringing back to life an ancient Scandinavian tradition, has opened in Sadie Cove Fjord, Alaska where the nearest town is Homer. It is called "Alaska's Eternal Rest" and specializes in Viking Funerals and personalized ash scatterings.

Viking funerals are performed on the beach of the Iverson's property in a scaled down version of the ancient Viking ships, totally hand made from local spruce. Previously cremated remains are placed in the boat, in their urn, the boat is burned on a funeral pyre, and a formal ceremony is given.

Personalized scatterings are performed on the beach in front of the lodge or in the forest behind the lodge. A formal ceremony is given as with the Viking funeral.

Music that the deceased enjoyed in life is played for each ceremony, the obituary will be read aloud along with any other words which the family wishes to be spoken and a video of the service will be included. In remembrance of the ceremony and the life of the deceased, a stone marker will be placed in a graden on the property with a brass plaque permantly placed on the stone upon which is written the deceased's name, dates of birth and death, and a memorial statement decided upon by the survivors.

Family and friends of the deceased are welcome to come to the lodge to be a part of the ceremony of a life well lived. Overnight accommodations are available and the lodge is closed to all other guests for each ceremony.

Says owner, Keith Iverson - "We offer these services as an alternative, earth friendly, respectful funeral in one of Alaska's most pristine locations - Sadie Cove Fjord."

The location is Sadie Cove Wilderness Lodge, owned and operated year-round for 35 years by Keith and Randi Iverson on a private parcel of land within Kachemak Bay State Park. The Iversons are long-time, respected business owners and an integral part of the nearest community of Homer. Their

Ice Removal

Parts of the basin are finally experiencing "winter weather" this winter. While temperatures have been above normal in many areas, snow, wind and even freezing rain have recently made an appearance. Along with that comes some problems such as ice buildup. Trying to keep people safe by preventing slipping and falling on ice and at the same time making sure we are not harming the environment can be a challenge.

Salt pollutes. When snow and ice melts, the salt goes with it, washing into our lakes, streams, wetlands, and groundwater. High amounts of chloride are toxic to fish, aquatic bugs, and amphibians. When chloride flows into streams, lakes, and wetlands, it harms aquatic vegetation and can change the plant community structure. Once in the water, there is no way to remove the chloride, and it takes only one teaspoon of road salt to permanently pollute five gallons of water.

The Minnesota Pollution Control Agency (MPCA) offers some tips on clearing our parking lots and sidewalks of ice while at the same time making sure we are not causing long term harmful effects on our waterways. Follow these simple tips to help protect our clean water. There are many ways to reduce salt use while maintaining high safety standards.

- Shovel. The more snow and ice you remove manually, the less salt you will have to use and the more effective it can be. Whether you use a shovel, snow blower, snow plow, or ice scraper, get out there as early as you can and keep up with the storm. You may even decide that salt isn't needed.

- 15°F is too cold for salt. Most salts stop working at this temperature. Use sand instead for traction, but remember that sand does not melt ice. Use the reference table below to apply the correct product for the conditions.

- Slow down. Drive for the conditions and make sure to give plow drivers plenty of space to do their work.

- Be patient. Just because you don't see salt on the road doesn't mean it hasn't been applied. These products take time to work.

- More salt does not mean more melting. Use less than 4 pounds of salt per 1,000 square feet (an average parking space is about 150 square feet). One pound of salt is approximately a heaping 12-ounce coffee mug. Consider purchasing a hand-held spreader to help you apply a consistent amount.

- Sweep up extra. If salt or sand is visible on dry pavement it is no longer doing any work and will be washed away. Use this salt or sand somewhere else or throw it away.

Help keep our water clean – remember less is more when it comes to applying salt because at high concentrations, chloride can harm the fish and plant life in our waters.
