Successful youth hunt for area kids

The Brobst kids cleaned house, er, THE WOODS, over the weekend! Kamdyn Brobst, left, was out hunting his first youth hunt with his uncle Levi on Friday, Oct. 20, at Grandpa and Grandma Ignaszewski's cabin SE of Badger when he tagged a 197 lb., 11-point with a kicker off the base! His sister Lakylie, above, bagged this 12-point, 220 lb. buck! Photos courtesy of Matia Brobst

These little hunters were eager to get to their stand over the youth hunt weekend! Payzlea Kainz, age 11, out front, and Kasper Kainz, age 5, were out hunting with their dad Kiefer. Payzlea shot a doe not long after they all got settled in! Photos courtesy of Kiefer Kainz

Above: The Grygla JCC's hosted a biggest buck/biggest doe contest over youth hunt weekend. Janessa Torgerson was the winner of the biggest buck and earned herself $100 for taking the top spot! The payout was based on entries. No does were brought in over the weekend so no winners to announce in that category. Janessa's buck was shot on Saturday while she was hunting with her dad. The 9-pointer weighed in at 185 lbs. Photo courtesy of Lea Ann Torgerson

Goodridge-Grygla Chargers head into playoffs

The Goodridge-Grygla Chargers have earned their spot on top this season. The local football team has secured the No. 1 seed in the section standings. Their recent victory over Northern Freeze brought their regular season to a successful close. The first round of playoffs will be held on Saturday, Oct. 28, in Grygla at 2 p.m.

The Chargers ended their regular season with a record of 7-1. Head Coach John Wilebski commented on his team's success. "What a nice win to end the regular season and on Parent's Night! Chargers set the tone early and took Charge of the athletic Northern Freeze team early on with a lot of bright spots to go around. A couple of stand outs were Donny Johnsrud with a banner game for the defense on the Chargers team with a couple of QB sacks early on and two fumble recoveries. Also, Chase Manderud and Gavin Aune really played well on the offensive line. Opening up holes for Jones, Rychlock, Nelson & Rubischko."

Stats per Wilebski
GG over Freeze, 47-6
Blake Rychlock 12 yard run, Lewis Jones to Rychlock pass good
Carson Rubischko 1 yard td run, Rychlock run good
Blake Rychlock 15 yard td pass to Lewis Jones, Rychlock kick good
Jones 3 yard td run, Rychlock kick good
Blake Rychlock 24 yard field goal

Only in Minnesota: a weekly feature in the Eagle

18 gifts that Minnesota gave the world

Target: This company was started in 1902 as “Goodfellow Dry Goods” and became “Target” in 1962. As a tribute to its original name, Target sells a great line of men’s products called Goodfellow.

Water skiing: In June 1922, 18-year-old Ralph Samuelson, of Minnesota, proposed that if you could ski on snow, then you could ski on water. Ralph, the first water skier, used a clothesline and a couple of old boards for his first ride. Let’s be glad water skiing has improved since then.

Honeycrisp apples: Honeycrisp apples were invented at the University of Minnesota in the 90s. (Who knew apples could be “invented?”)

The indoor shopping mall: The first indoor shopping mall was built just west of the Twin Cities in 1956.

Minnesota is even better known for the World’s Largest Indoor Shopping Mall – the Mall of America – built in 1992. This mall has 520 stores, an aquarium and a theme park inside. More people visit the Mall of America than Disney World!

Greyhound bus: In 1914, a guy named Carl Wickman used a 7-passenger vehicle to take people to work for 15 cents per ride. A century, plus several mergers and expansions later, Greyhound is North America’s largest bus company with nearly 1,300 buses, 4,000 destinations and 5.5 billion ride miles a year.

Mayo Clinic: The first and largest non-profit hospital in the world is in Rochester, MN.

Each year, more than 1.3 million different patients from all 50 states, and from more than 150 countries, are seen at one of the Mayo Clinic facilities. It’s one of the best (if not the very best) hospitals in the world.

Tonka trucks: Tonka was founded in Mound, Minnesota, and likely named for Lake Minnetonka. These heavy-duty trucks are classic toys more than a few people outside of Minnesota played with while growing up.

Microwave popcorn: Forever changing the way we watch movies at home, the first version of microwave popcorn in a bag was patented by Minnesota-based General Mills in 1981. These days microwave popcorn comes in all flavors by many different brands, but it was the Minnesota brand that started it all.

The Oregon Trail: What was every 90s kids favorite video game? The Oregon Trail. Yeah, it came from Minnesota. Three Minnesotans invented the game in 1971, and it is still loved to this day.

Enclosed walkways (aka skyways): The best inventions solve a problem. Given the problem of seemingly endless winters in Minnesota, it only makes sense that Minnesotans created an innovative way of getting around the city – an enclosed walkway. You literally never have to go outside. You can go from your city apartment, to breakfast, the dry cleaners, Target, a salon, a ball game, dinner and wherever else you could imagine... all via the Skyway.

Best Buy: In 1966 a couple of guys started a business selling home and car stereo equipment, calling their business “The Sounds of Music.” They eventually expanded the business to sell more products and changed the name to Best Buy.

Scotch tape: Many years ago, a company called Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing (you may know them as 3M) produced sandpaper. When one of the young engineers was testing the sand paper at a local auto body shop, he noticed the auto painters were having a hard time painting a straight line. He decided to create a masking tape to solve this problem. He later created the clear Scotch tape that now resides in every junk drawer in America.

Post-it notes: Another 3M invention. A scientist was singing in his church choir in St. Paul. The tabs of paper he used in his hymnal kept falling out and he wanted a better way to save pages. He went to work that week and created the sticky note. It was years before the product went to market and wasn’t successful at first. No one purchased it because they didn’t know how handy Post-it notes could be. 3M decided to give them away to offices and 90% of the people and businesses that had received the free samples chose to reorder – more than twice the success of any other product they’d given away. Since then, post it notes are one of the top 5 bestselling office products around the world.

Favorite cereals: Cheerios, Lucky Charms, Fruit Loops and all the other General Mills cereals were created in Minnesota.

A few celebrities: Jessica Biel, Prince, Judy Garland, Lindsey Vonn, Chris Pratt and Bob Dylan (to name a few) were all born in Minnesota.

The Mississippi River: Visit Lake Itasca in Minnesota to discover the SOURCE, the very beginning, of the Mississippi River. You can leap across on stepping stones or just walk right across the Mighty Mississippi.

Paul Bunyan and Babe: The legendary lumberjack hero and his sidekick, Babe, the blue ox. I remember loving those Tall Tales in elementary school that explained how all the lakes formed in the Midwest – from the footprints of Paul Bunyan! You’ll find statues of this giant in several places around the state.

Spam: Well, I don’t necessarily consider SPAM a GIFT, but many people still do. Especially during WWII when men were thrilled to have this source of protein. You can visit a SPAM museum in Austin.
