Youth can hunt with mentors for youth deer season Oct. 20-23

Youth, ages 10-15, can participate in a special deer season that runs from Thursday, Oct. 20, to Sunday, Oct. 23, in 27 permit areas of southeastern and northwestern Minnesota, including in the Twin Cities metro permit area 601, according to the Department of Natural Resources.

"Youth can hunt with adult mentors during youth deer season," said Mike Kurre, DNR mentoring program coordinator. "The season is a way to focus on young hunters so they have good experiences and learn valuable skills. You might be showing youth how to hunt now, but as their interest in the outdoors grows, pretty soon they might be teaching you a lesson or two."

Deer permit areas open to the hunt are: 101, 105, 111, 114, 201, 203, 208, 209, 256, 257, 260, 263, 264, 267, 268, 338, 339, 341, 342, 343, 344, 345, 346, 347, 348, 349 and 601. Blaze orange requirements apply to all hunters, trappers and adult mentors in areas open for the youth deer season.

Youth must meet all firearms safety requirements, purchase a license and use the appropriate firearm for the permit area in which they are hunting. Youth may take a deer of either sex and may only take one deer during the youth season.

An adult mentor must accompany the youth but may not hunt or carry a firearm and does not need a license. However, in certain portions of permit areas 346 and 349 in Winona, Houston and Fillmore counties, the adult can participate in the early antlerless hunt while being a mentor if in possession of an early antlerless permit and a regular firearm license.

Public land is open, and private land is also open provided the hunters have landowner permission.

Participating in the youth deer season does not affect eligibility of youth to participate in the regular firearms deer season but any deer harvested does count against the youth's season bag limit.

More information can be found on page 34 of the 2016 Minnesota Hunting and Trapping Regulations Handbook under the heading Special Youth Deer Season and online at www.mndnr.gov/regulations/hunting.

The unofficial winner at the Gully Elevator for the largest sunflower was Jimmy Paulson of Trail. It measured 13 1/4 inches across.

On Saturday October 8th, members of the Clearwater County Sheriff's Reserves, a search and rescue group of volunteers, finished up a series of training to prepare them for the upcoming hunting seasons. Last Saturday members participated in an 8 hour ground search and rescue course that was provided by instructors from Central Lakes Search and Rescue, which is located out of Garfield MN. Some of the areas covered were:

Interval Conditioning for Horses

Interval conditioning, commonly used in human athletes, alternates periods of work and rest to allow a greater range of fitness training and shorter recovery time. The objective of this study, conducted at the University of Georgia, was to determine if interval conditioning would yield better results than traditional continuous conditioning when working with nine unconditioned horses.

Horses underwent a conditioning program consisting of free lunging in a round pen at increasing workloads 3 times a week for 8 weeks. Horses were filmed in hand at the trot using a high-speed camera before beginning and at the end of the 8-week training program. An incremental standardized exercise test was conducted before and after training to establish fitness levels for comparison.

After 8 weeks of training, horses conditioned with both methods showed better fitness levels. However, the interval conditioning horses appeared to exert less effort for the same workload, as evidenced by bloodwork results and better propulsion at the trot. This study suggests that interval conditioning may yield better results than continuous conditioning by improved physiological response to exercise as well as improved muscular propulsion.

Fall Pasture Management

Fall provides an ideal time of year to improve horse pastures. August 1st to September 15th is an ideal time of year to seed or over seed pastures and rid pastures of perennial weeds. Fall is the best time to seed or re-seed pastures due to the usually adequate moisture, less weed competition and cooler weather conditions. Fall is also best for perennial weed control since perennial plants are storing carbohydrates in their roots allowing the herbicide to be translocated into the root for effective control.

Make sure to check fences; especially posts .Fix broken posts before they are frozen into the ground. Finally, make sure the pasture grasses have 3 to 4 inches of re-growth going into winter. This will help with winter survival and a quicker spring growth. Keeping horses on pastures over winter causes damage to plants and offers the horse little nutrition. Keeping the horses in a sacrifice paddock (dry lot) with access to hay, water and shelter is recommended.

Horse owners should use caution when grazing after the first killing frost of the fall. Frost damaged pasture forages can have higher concentrations of non-structural carbohydrates following the first killing frost of the season. This can lead to an increase in the potential for laminitis and colic, especially in obese horses or horses diagnosed with laminitis and equine metabolic syndrome. To reduce the chance of adverse health effects, it is recommended that horse owners wait one week before turning all horses, including healthy horses, back onto a pasture after the first killing frost.

Thoughts from the Sheriff

Clearwater County
Sheriff Darin Halverson

This month I want to touch on a topic I have written previously about. Recently, we have had numerous reports of burglaries in the southern portion of our county. Most of these burglaries have been at seasonal cabins. These types of burglaries can be difficult to investigate as sometimes there may be several weeks between visits to the cabin and it can be hard to determine exactly when they occurred. I want to take this time to let everyone know what our office is doing about these burglaries and what you can do to protect your property.

The Clearwater County Sheriff's Office has been working hard on these cases. Search warrants have been conducted and property has been recovered from several of the burglaries. Evidence has also been collected and is at the Minnesota Bureau of Criminal Apprehension lab in Bemidji being processed. We have several individuals identified as people of interest and hopefully will be making arrests in the very near future. Unfortunately for the victims in these cases, rarely do we recover all of the stolen property. It is often sold or traded immediately. However, we are doing everything we can to try and locate as much of the property as we can and return it to the rightful owner.

Victims, and the general public, can become frustrated during this process as they feel that law enforcement is doing nothing to find the people responsible and holding them accountable. Investigations into burglaries can be very time consuming. Deputies may be investigating several crimes at the same time as well as responding to accidents, medical calls, and any other call for service during their shift. We want to be sure that we conduct our investigations properly so that in the end, we get a conviction. If we rush, mistakes can be made and evidence not allowed in court which would hamper the prosecution.

I want to reassure everyone that our office is working diligently on solving the recent string of burglaries. Our efforts have been beneficial thus far. We have not been able to do this alone. You, as the general public, have given information that has been very helpful. Our neighboring law enforcement agencies have also helped. In the end, we are all in this together. We want to make our county a safe place to live and want to do everything in our power to see criminals pay for their actions. This should be a common mission for all of us. Burglaries and thefts cost all taxpayers money. The cost of the investigations directly affect the tax payers of Clearwater County and the insurance claims that are submitted as a result of the damage done to property and the cost to replace items affect insurance premiums for everyone.

As a cabin owner, what can you do to help? First, keep an accurate list of items that you have at your cabin. Document with photographs or video and store those at a different location. This will help in the case of a break-in as it will refresh your memory of what you had and will assist law enforcement in positively identifying your property. Be sure to document serial numbers on electronic devices and firearms as these seem to be the most popular items stolen. Some property owners even mark their property in unique ways in areas that are inconspicuous. This is a smart idea as it may help to positively identify your property in the case that it is stolen.

Hopefully you will not need to identify your property to law enforcement if you can deter criminals from even attempting a burglary. Good security lighting is an excellent deterrent. Whether it is a security light on a pole or a motion activated light on your building, these lights help to deter criminals. Thieves are looking for an easy opportunity and one that they won't be seen at. If your cabin or residence has good security lighting, you may have just prevented your place from becoming an easy target.

Game cameras are an excellent resource in the case that you are burglarized. The cost for these items have come down and are relatively affordable. Photos from these cameras have helped identify suspects in past cases and current ones as well. Criminals are also aware that many people are deploying these cameras and in some cases, have located and stole them as well. If you are using a game camera, try to find a location hidden from view that a suspect would not be able to see. If you have no such place then I would suggest placing the camera in a high location only accessible by a ladder or place it in a locked secure box and fasten it to a pole or structure with good anchor bolts. After all, thieves don't want to work too hard at taking what is yours.

Surveillance cameras are also becoming popular. Some cabin owners are installing them and they are synched to their smart phones so if someone comes onto their property they can see who it is. If it is someone they do not recognize or the person is disguising themselves with a hood or mask, the owner can call law enforcement and a deputy can respond immediately and possibly catch the perpetrator in the act. The other nice feature with a current surveillance camera is that even if the thief finds and steals the camera, the footage can be stored off site in the "cloud" and still be accessible for review.

One other suggestion that I would have is if you have a seasonal cabin, find someone who lives in the area to keep a close eye on it when you're gone. If people see suspicious vehicles in an area, they should call law enforcement immediately as we have had reports of vehicles after the fact that have helped us solve cases. Get as much information about the vehicle as you can and if possible, the license plate number.

As I have said repeatedly, we need citizen's help as you are our eyes and ears. I strongly believe that the most effective law enforcement comes about by community help and support. Remember, we are in this together.

If you have questions that you would like answered or any suggestions, please email me at darin.halverson@co.clearwater.mn.us or call the Sheriff's Office at 218-694-6226. You can also find us on Facebook by searching for Clearwater County Sheriff's Office.
