Fabian and Kiel react to Sandpiper news

This past week, it was announced that Enbridge Inc. has purchased a minority stake in the Bakken Pipeline which will run from North Dakota to the Gulf Coast. Representatives Dan Fabian (R-Roseau) and Deb Kiel (R-Crookston) believe this move essentially ends Enbridge's pursuit of the Sandpiper Pipeline, a project that has faced burdensome state government regulations and long delays. This will cost Greater Minnesota jobs and economic investment.

"From day one, the Sandpiper Pipeline has been burdened with regulatory delays and barriers from the governor and his state agencies. Those onerous roadblocks have cost our community a $2 billion project and thousands of great jobs in Northwest Minnesota," said Rep. Dan Fabian. "Our neighboring states are able to move this regulatory process along efficiently while protecting their environmental interests, and it is extremely frustrating that Minnesota refuses to do the same."

"I am disappointed that regulatory hold ups and decision making in St. Paul have driven jobs, investment and business out of Northwest Minnesota," said Rep. Deb Kiel. "Talking with folks across the district about the Sandpiper Pipeline, it was clear that this project was a positive investment in our local economy. Now, however, North Dakota and other neighboring states will see the investments that should have been in Minnesota."

Heritage Homestead Picnic at Syverson Homestead

This year's McIntosh Heritage and Arts Center Heritage Homestead Picnic will take place on Saturday, August 20th from 2:00 pm to 4:00 pm at the Syverson Homestead and Lindsay Post Office Site.

There will be tours of the Syverson Homestead and Lindsay Post Office Site, along with displays and information about the History of Lindsay Post Office and Hill River Township.

Norris Syverson will be the host for this event and will also recall stories from his childhood during a short presentation.

Fred S. Syverson served as postmaster at the Lindsay Post office from 1889 to 1914, in later years, Fred O. Syverson acted as assistant. Mail service at that time was three days a week and later became daily mail from McIntosh.

There will be a picnic lunch served by MHAC members and lots of visiting and reminiscing with friends and neighbors.

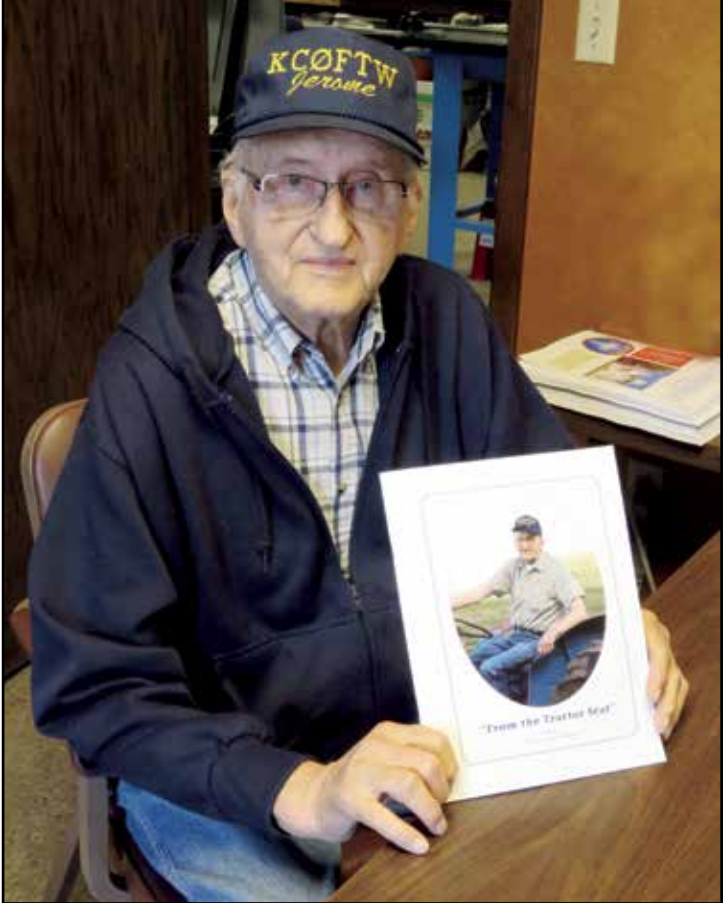

The Syverson Homestead is located 6 miles north of McIntosh on County Road 8, then turning right (east) onto County Road 5, go 4 miles and the homestead is on the south side of the road. The roads will be marked the day of the picnic.

Free will donations will be gratefully accepted and all proceeds go to the MHAC General Funding and events. There will be information available about other McIntosh Heritage and Arts Center projects as well.

Bring your lawn chair and come and have a fun time with friends and neighbors on August 20th.

Win-E-Mac Homecoming Coronation

by Randy Bruer

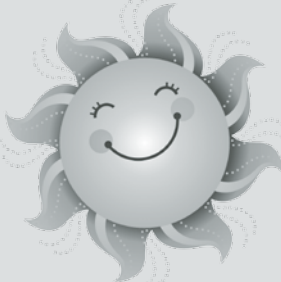

There have been several conversations and surveys with students this past year about discontinuing the royalty/coronation part of Homecoming and replacing it with an evening event which would include all students and community members

We have asked different populations why we have continued this particular tradition, and the main reason found is because it is tradition, which is a good thing. However, during conversations with students this past year about the topic many say they don't care whether we have this part of homecoming or not. Many other students have said they want to see it gone. Several reasons expressed are: it is a popularity contest and at times becomes a mockery; it often becomes an organized joke as to who they vote for; winners have no responsibility; some winners have refused to wear the crown and some have gotten harassed for winning.

We believe Homecoming is an important event in school and would still have an evening event that honors the senior players and encourages school spirit.

We would also have the rest of homecoming dress up days, dance, games, pepfest, etc. The topic has been brought to the school board in both April and again in July and will be brought to the Board for a decision in August.

If you have an opinion, please give the District Office a call or you can attend the August School Board meeting on August 16th at 6:00 A.M.

The Death of a Settler The McIntosh Times, Thursday, February 13, 1926.

The obituary of an early settler as printed in The McIntosh Times at the time of his death.

Death Summons Olof Stardig Polk Pioneer

Farmer, 87, Endured Hardships of Frontier, Witnessed Change From Wilderness to Farming community.

Olof Stardig, a resident of this community for more than half a century, passed away quietly at his home in Knute township on Sunday, February 9. He was 87 years 9 months and 5 days at the time of his death, which resulted from the natural infirmities of old age.

Mr. Stardig was born in Lima, Vallsjon, in Dalrane, Sweden, on May 4 1848. He grew to manhood there, working with his parents, and serving in the Swedish army. In February, 1875, he married Miss Marina Ostenson, and they made their home in Sweden for several years.

Friends in America had written to Mr. Stardig telling him about this country. In 1882, he left his native land and came to Alexandria, Minnesota, where he soon found work in order to earn enough money to send for his wife and five small children who were still in Sweden.

The Thirteen Towns were opened in 1883, and in August of that year, Mr. Stardig came to Polk county. He filed on 160 acres of land 4 ½ miles south west of the present site of McIntosh, which did not exist at the time. The township in which he filed was later named Knute township in accord with his suggestion that it be so named after the late Senator Knute Nelson.

Mr. Stardig erected a log cabin home on his claim during the winter of 1864. He continued to work out at any employment which he could find, and, by carefully saving his earnings, he was able to send for his family in the spring of 1884.

Mrs. Stardig made the long journey from Sweden to America with her five small Children, the oldest a girl of twelve years. She was accompanied by Mr. Stardig's mother.

As Polk county was still a sparsely settled wilderness in 1884, Mr. Stardig and his family had to undergo all the hardships and privations of frontier life. Hardy and resolute armed with a determination to wrest an existence from the wilderness, Mr. Stardig worked to develop his farm and make a permanent and secure home for himself and his family. His many friends and acquaintances, who have known him as on of the prosperous farmers of Knute township, know how well he succeeded in his aim.

Mr. Stardig was a charter member of the Salem Lutheran church and held various church offices for many years. He also served in the capacity of commissioner in Columbia county, supervisor of Knute township, school treasurer, and town clerk.

The deceased was proceeded in death by his wife, who passed away in 1918, a daughter, Anna, and one son, Martin. He leaves to mourn his passing, seven children, Otto, Selmer, Albert, Ida, Minnie, and Emily, all of McIntosh, and Anton Stardig of New England, North Dakota. There are also 10 grandchildren, 2 adopted grandchildren, and one great-grandchild.

Funeral rites will be conducted in Salem Lutheran church on Friday afternoon. Rev. J. Elmer Dahlgren will officiate. He will be assisted by Rev. C.M. Westermoe.

Winger News

by Linda Pulskamp

Greetings again from Winger and the Union Lake areas where we once again had a storm go through the area last night and looking out this morning (Thursday) there is a lot of water standing around and the creek right below us is over flowing, looking at my rain gauge there was well over three inches that fell during the night, but once again other places were hit harder than we were.

Small grain harvest is well under way with many of the fields already having been harvested and farther south it is pretty well wrapped up.

School is right around the corner with the starting date for colleges only about three weeks away. Summer has definitely flown by.

For all you football fans that too is right around the corner not only professional but for the area schools too.

Orton Stardig and his daughter Mona who is visiting here from California were recent visitors with Martha Henney at the Pioneer Home at Erskine. Martha also enjoys the many telephone visits she has with family and friends.

Tuesday the 26th Judy Gieseke was a morning visitor at the Fern and Milton Carlson home. That evening Donna Carlson visited with Fern and Milton at the Carlson home.

Linda Pulskamp spent from Tuesday until Monday at the Brent and Jessie Pulskamp home in Wahpeton, although Friday until Sunday she and the three girls came to Winger and spent that time at the Pulskamp home here.

Merle and Linda Malme of Arizona visited on the 21st with Helmer and Verlys Homme at the Pioneer Home at Erskine. Merle is Verly's brother. On Saturday the 23rd Helmer and Verlys joined the family as they gathered at the Mitch Malmo home at Battle Lake.

Paul Carlson stopped in at the Milton Carlson home briefly on his way to work on the 27th.

Last Saturday visitors at the Pulskamp home were Dean Johnson, Kelly Johnson and granddaughter Lily, Marv Engesether of Plummer, Reha Sanstead of Erskine and her house guest Leonard Taylor of Arizona and Leonard's daughter Mary Lynn who was visiting here from Greeley, Colorado.

Judy and Lonnie Gieseke were visitors and brought dinner to the Milton Carlson home on Friday the 29th. Later on the 29th Dick and Wanda Donavon and "Pepper" of St. Francis arrived to spend the week end at the Carlson home.

Last Saturday morning Linda Pulskamp and granddaughters, Sidnie, Skyline and Brylie were visitors with Donnie Johnson of Maple Lake and Nola Abele at the Abele home in Fosston.

Saturday the 30th family members were treated to dinner at the Fern and Milton Carlson home that Wanda Donavon had prepared.

Betty Lou Myhrum brought a meatloaf and potato salad supper to Lucy Brtek's one evening this past week which Lucy stated was delicious. The two ladies enjoyed their supper together while visiting.

Sunday the 31st Paul and Donna Carlson were visitors at the Fern and Milton Carlson bringing them fresh garden produce from their garden and also to visit with Dick and Wanda Donavon who left for their home in St. Francis that afternoon after spending to week end at the Carlson home.

Marv Engesether, Reha Sanstead and Linda Pulskamp helped Reha's house guest Leonard Taylor celebrate his birthday on Tuesday by taking him out to lunch.

Monday August the 1st Paul Carlson stopped in at the Fern and Milton Carlson bringing them fresh potatoes from his garden.

Sheldon and Rita Trandem visited with Helmer and Verlys Homme at the Pioneer Home at Erskine a couple of times during the past week.

Until next week may yours be a good one.

From Bun Manor:

Apologies to Calvin from Bun on not thinking that he lived next door to the Sid Anderson's in Winger. Sister Judy told Bun they lived there for a short time before going to live in the country. In fairness to Bun though that he wasn't even born yet when they were in town.

Bun called his niece Megan on July 31st to wish her a happy golden birthday. The baby is getting old.

Annette Carlson Swedberg, Mona Stardig, and Debbie Johnson Carey (M-W Class of '74) met in Bloomington for dinner and a long overdue visit during Mona's recent trip to Minnesota.

Libby Espeseth from Golden Colorado was home for a few days in July to visit with her mother Joey and brothers Brian and Tony. They celebrated her birthday while she was up visiting the area. She returned back to Golden last week.

Twelve residents and four lady workers from the Fair Meadow home in Fertile came out to Bun Manor for a picnic last week. Scrap cooked the standard burgers and brats. Bun was introduced to a fellow Union Lake man Tim Anvinson who lives on the shoreline across from him. Bun found him and his wife Barb to be very nice people. His wife Barb is suffering from Parkinsons and can't walk well so she needs to be at the home. The lake was too windy this year so no pontoon rides were given.

Buns sweeties from the Mac area Judy, Joyce and Lois got together last week to play cards at Joyce's place north of town. Special guest card player was Lois' sister Leta Tobias. They all had food and fun.

Friday evening Bun went to Winger to help celebrate her 62nd birthday. Those who were present were her husband Mark, daughter Shannon, Mike and Steve Vesledahl, Everett Osland, Ole, Jerry Wang and Pat's friend and high school classmate Ruth from Arizona. They enjoyed hearing stories about Ralph, Dickey and Lester Lind. One should have written a book about all those old timer escapades. Hilarious!

Mark Broden came out with a bunch of kids and grand kids to the manor on Sun. to go for a cruise on the lake. It was a perfect calm, sunny warm day. You guessed it. The flipping thing wouldn't start. How depressing can it get? The kids didn't mind too much because they got to at least go swimming.

Chris Wang returned home to Gillette after spending sometime up in the area. He came up for his annual Detroit Lakes golf get together with friends and of course spending time with his mother L.J.

Brad and Hollie Stewart celebrated their 34th wedding anniversary on Sunday. They went for a road trip in the afternoon around the Bemidji area enjoying the sights and each other.

Three women from the Winger area have had problems staying on their feet. A couple of weeks ago Marilyn Natwick was walking with her husband David in Fargo on their way to a rummage sale when she tripped on the sidewalk and fell head first to the ground. She tried to break her fall with her hands and ended up fracturing both her wrists. Bun talked to David on Sunday and he told him she is looking and feeling better.

Connie Smeby lives southeast of Winger and they have many different kind of wild creatures wandering around the area such as Coyotes, Wolves, deer, bear and even a cougar or two. So which of these vicious creatures startled her so bad that she fell and broke her left wrist? None

Assessing and reporting potential cases of soybean aphid resistance to pyrethroids

Below is an article by U of M Extension Specialists Robert Koch (Entomologist) and Bruce Potter (IPM). Populations of soybean aphids for much of northern Minnesota have been low so far this growing season. Keep scouting, looking throughout the whole canopy. Treatment economic threshold is still 250 aphids per plant. Make sure to evaluate any treatment applied.

History has shown us many times that over-reliance on pesticides often results in development of pesticide resistance in pests. Last summer in parts of southern Minnesota, some pyrethroid insecticides (bifenthrin [e.g., Brigade, Tundra, Hero and others] and lambda-cyhalothrin [e.g., Warrior and others]) failed to provide adequate control of soybean aphid. Historically, these have been among the top performing pyrethroid insecticides for soybean aphid management. Follow-up laboratory bioassays confirmed resistance (10- to 44-fold resistance) to these insecticides in a soybean aphid population collected near Lamberton, MN. The majority of these performance issues in 2015 appeared centered in and near Brown, Redwood and Renville counties. In most other areas, pyrethroid insecticides preformed as expected and effectively suppressed aphid populations. Here, we provide updates on resistance monitoring for 2016, and recommendations for resistance management and how to report potential cases of resistance.

Updates on Resistance Monitoring

Our efforts to monitor for resistance in soybean aphid populations have begun this year as aphid populations are increasing in fields. Significant resistance was not detected in soybean aphid populations collected from near Lamberton and Chandler in 2016. However, we have received a couple reports of performance issues with field applications of pyrethroids for soybean aphid over the last couple weeks. We will continue collecting and assaying aphids from locations around Minnesota.

Insecticide Resistance Management

As soybean aphid populations increase, we ask that you use insecticides wisely to prevent or postpone further development of insecticide resistance in the soybean aphid. A detailed explanation of insecticide resistance and resistance management strategies can be found in "Insecticide Resistance Management in Soybean." at <http://www.extension.umn.edu/agriculture/soybean/pest/insecticide-resistance-management-in-soybean/>

Some key strategies to keep in mind for insecticide resistance management (IRM) are:

- Alternate insecticide groups modes of action. (see complete table of treatment options by looking at the on-line version of this article at the U of M crop news blog site. The table includes representative insecticides (foliar formulations) for soybean aphid management. Note that though there are many products, they represent only three insecticide modes of action (i.e., Groups: Group 1 = Acetylcholinesterase inhibitors; Group 3 = Sodium channel modulators; and Group 4 = Nicotinic acetylcholine receptor agonists). Always follow label instructions. For example, if more than one foliar application of insecticide is required, alternate between pyrethroid and organophosphate. Or, if a neonicotinoid seed treatment was used, avoid a foliar application with a neonicotinoid-containing product.

- Alternation is preferred over tank mixes (or formulated mixtures) of insecticides for resistance management.

- Follow the label instructions to use insecticide properly. Use full recommend rates (i.e., avoid using reduced rates in tank mixes or alone)
- Apply insecticides only when necessary (i.e., scout fields and use the economic threshold of 250 aphids per plant with majority of plants infested and population increasing), and
- Use integrated pest management (IPM) to reduce likelihood of needing to apply insecticides.

Insecticide Mixtures Generally not for Resistance Management

The topic of mixtures of insecticides (tank mixes or formulated mixtures) deserves further discussion, because the recommendations for insecticide resistance management differ from recommendations for herbicide resistance management. The best fit for insecticide mixtures is to broaden the spectrum of pest control for when multiple insect species are economically threatening; however, this rarely is the case in Minnesota soybeans, where soybean aphid continues to be the primary insect threat. The Insecticide Resistance Action Committee (IRAC), which is comprised of scientists from many of the agrochemical companies, released an official statement explaining why insecticide mixtures are generally not a good fit for insecticide resistance management. Instead of using mixtures they recommend alternation (rotation) of individual insecticide groups (modes of action). The challenges with using mixtures for insecticide resistance management are:

- The individual insecticides within the mixture should be used at the rates at which they are individually registered for the target pest.
- Mixtures of insecticides from the same insecticide group (mode of action) are not recommended.
- Cross resistance between the individual insecticides must be considered.
- Mixtures are less effective for resistance management if resistance is developing to one or both of the insecticides in the mixture.
- The individual insecticides within the mixture should have similar durations of residual activity (longevity of toxicity after application).

Insects are not weeds. Due to obvious differences in their biologies (e.g., ability to move to new locations of own choosing), recommendations for control and pesticide resistance management differ between these pest types. For example, when one insecticide of a mixture is less persistent (e.g., organophosphates versus pyrethroids) or is present in different locations of the plant (e.g., absorption and translocation or volatilization), the pest insect population may essentially be exposed to a single compound spatially or temporally.

Resistance to a persistent broad-spectrum insecticide, like a pyrethroid, creates another problem. When mixed with a less persistent insecticide, like an organophosphate (e.g., chlorpyrifos) the spectrum of insects controlled and perhaps speed of kill increases. Unfortunately, this includes killing beneficial insects (e.g., predators and parasitic wasps). The inclusion of the persistent insecticide will eliminate these beneficial insects even after the less persistent compound has dissipated. This allows any surviving or immigrating insecticide-resistant aphids to colonize and reproduce very quickly.

Insecticide Resistance in Spider Mites

Another important thing to remember is that applications of insecticides targeted at soybean aphid also affect other pests, such as twospotted spider mites. In 2012, a chlorpyrifos-resistant population of twospotted spider mites was identified in southwestern Minnesota.

This pest is rarely the primary target of insecticide applications, so this case of resistance was likely the result of non-target exposure of the mites to insecticides applied for soybean aphid. Unnecessary insecticide applications of insecticides (i.e., those made below economic threshold for aphids) and use of mixtures of insecticides may expose these other pests to one or more modes of action and potentially increase pressure of resistance development.

How to Report Potential Cases of Resistance

Several factors can cause an insecticide application not to perform as inspected. Before assuming resistance, you must rule out factors such as misapplication of the insecticide, unfavorable weather, and recolonization by the pest. The preferred method to report potential cases of resistance is to use "Report Insecticide Failures for Soybean Aphid." Found at the U of M Extension web site <http://www.extension.umn.edu/agriculture/soybean/pest/soybean-aphid/insecticide-failure/>.

of the above! It was a ferocious man eating squirrel.

Gerri Balstad was bowling with her daughters and grandchildren in Bemidji the other day when she tripped on her bowling ball bag, fell down and broke her right shoulder socket. The power in the building went out so it was hard to see where she was going. We're all sorry to hear about your accidents and hope your recoveries a success.

Carsten and Joanne has a busy weekend at the Elbow Lake Cabin. On Thursday evening the next door neighbors, Peterson's, from Phoenix, Arizona had them over for a huge, home cooked supper. On Friday, John and Carol Fjelsstad, from Walker, Minnesota, brought a big picnic lunch. Joanne and Carol used to work together at the Bank. They even lived together for a while. Then, Sunday, after church, Orrie and Sue Flermoen, brought a real big chicken dinner, enough food that it was almost like a Sunday buffet. Lots of memories were brought up, it was a wonderful week!

Superintendents Notes

By Randy Bruer

The staff and administration are excited to begin a new school year! We will have several new students attending our school this year and are excited to welcome them to Win-E-Mac! If you know of a family contemplating a school change, please ask them to come and visit. Open House will be on Wednesday, August 31st from 5:00-7:00 pm. All parents and students are encouraged to attend the Open House.

Fitness Room Renewal

If you had a membership to the School Fitness Center this past year, the fee you paid is only good until August 31, 2016. You will need to renew the membership fee by that date or your card will be deactivated until a payment is made. If you did not purchase a membership last year and would like one this year, please come to the District Office to fill out a membership application and fee. A Fitness Center access card will be issued. Please call 218-563-2900 for any questions.

Immunizations

Before a student can attend a Minnesota school, a child must have their immunizations up to date before the first day of school.

According to Minnesota's School Immunization laws, your child entering Kindergarten should have dates for the following vaccines; 6 7th graders-(meningococcal) 5 (DTaP/DTP) Diphtheria-Tetanus-Peritussis, 4 (IPV) Polio, 3 (Hep B) Hepatitis B, 2 (MMR) Measles-Mumps-Rubella, 2 Varicella (chickenpox) and 1(Tdap booster-7th grade only). Tim (Bunny) Anderson along with other members of the Winger Fire Department enjoyed the great weather, good food, and music by The Bad Campers during the Winger Fireman's Ball on Saturday, July 30th at Liquor Pigs in Winger.

Brady Langemo and son, Grafton had so much fun during the McIntosh Library Summer Reading Program event where kids were able to create their own work of art to bring home.

School along with all schools in Minnesota are required by law to make sure all students meet the criteria for immunization certification in Minnesota schools. If a parent has a question about immunizations, please call the school district. In order to remain in school, your student is required to be in compliance.

Sports

We would like to welcome everyone back for the 2016-2017 school year. Win-E-Mac has some terrific activities this fall for all to attend. Football and volleyball activities are taking place almost nightly with both junior high and senior high students participating.

We want every student to have a positive experience in the sport they choose to participate in so we must model and support our athletes with respect and good sportsmanship. We also want everyone to be able to enjoy our student participation in the High School League activities. "Go Patriots"
